ELECTROCUTED ON LOFTY POLE, HELD BY BELT

J. R. Kile, Lineman, Meets Tragic Death Among Wires.

A HOLE IN HIS GLOVE

Fellow Workmen at Taylor Avenue and Pine Street Release Body.

SAFETY DEVICE A TRAP

Contrivance Fastens Victim to Network of Metal Threads Until It Is Removed.

A tiny hole in his rubber glove, and a worn place on the insulation of his plier handles caused the death of Jas. R. Kile, a lineman for the Union Electric Light and Power Co., who was electrocuted while at work at the top of a 30-foot pole on the west side of Taylor avenue, between West Pine boulevard and Laclede avenue, shortly before noon Friday.

As Kile manipulated the wires, high in the air, it happened that the hole in his glove came in contact with the small bit of plier handle where the insulation was worn. An electric shock ran through his body. He lunged forward and fell across the wires. His safety belt, a strap attached to a leather belt and buckled round the pole above the lowest cross-arm, held him on the wires.

Sparks From His Body.

Below him, on the ground, were Thos. Dwyer of 3632 Cottage avenue; Arthur Hartman of 1434 Biddle street and Michael Grady of 5317 Maple avenue. They saw the sparks that burst from the wire when the current found Kile's flesh through the bare plier handle any the hole in his glove, they heard the crackle of the electricity as it raced, nd they saw Kile's body lurch onto wires.

Dwyer went up the pole as fast as could climb. Hartman threw a rope, with a heavy rubber ball attached to one end, over the cross arm. Dwyer tied this rope into Kile's belt, unstrapped the other part of the safety belt from the pole and slowly lowered the dead man to his waiting fellow-workmen below.

Was Killed Instantly.

Dr. Kuhn of Euclid and Forest Park boulevard was summoned. He reached the scene in a few minutes, but said, after an examination, that Kile must have been killed instantly. The Morgue was notified and the body was carried there.

Kile was 34 years of age and lived with his wife and one child at 3116 Walter avenue, Maplewood.

ANOTHER JUROR PASSED AT BOISE

First of New Venire Drawn Qualifies; Haywood's Wife in Court.

BOISE, Idaho, May 31.—The first talesman drawn from the new special venire issued in the Steunenberg murder trial qualified as a juror this morning and opened the way to the exercise of the eighteenth peremptory challenge. He is J. A. Robertson, a contractor and builder of Boise.

In the alternate use of challenges the eighteenth was with the defense and excused Harmon Cox, the veteran whom it tried to disqualify on Monday. Two challenges, one for each side, remain unused.

Fifteen members of the new panel pleaded statutory excuses to Judge Wood, but he granted only five of the applications, leaving 56 men to draw the remainder of the jury from.

The first task of counsel was to fill a vacancy at No. 9, created by the State's ninth challenge.

He Was Born in Scotland.

Robertson was called to the empty chair and his good humor in answering questions convulsed the courtroom at times.

Gov. Steunenberg boarded at Robertson's house during a part of the time he was Chief Executive of the State. This fact, the talesman declared, had created no prejudice in his mind against the men on trial for the murder. When asked where he was born, Robertson declared:

"I was born in that grand little country where they raise honest men and bonnie lassies—Scotland."

He left Scotland at 4 years of age, went to Canada and lived there 13 years, then came to the United States and lived in Illinois 12 years.

Robertson said he "got scared out of Nebraska by the cyclones." He came to Idaho and had broken all previous records by living here 18 years. He was married at the age of 25.

A shipment of sunshine is on the way to St. Louis and will be dispensed in the city tomorrow, if delivery is made according to the billing and routing of the same. The change in the weather has nothing to do with the price of beefsteak or the visit of Secretary Taft, however. Neither is it to be effected by the Ice Trust suit. This is the forecast:

"Showers tonight, followed by clearing weather Saturday; moderate temperatures; northeasterly, shifting to northwesterly, winds."

A storm, central over the Rio Grande yesterday, had located over Arkansas this morning. It had caused rains in the Southern States, Lower Ohio and Middle Mississippi Valley, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado and Utah.

Frost was reported from Wyoming, Colorado, Northern Arizona and Northern Ohio.

Temperatures in other cities at 7 a. m. today were: Chicago 48, Cincinnati 58, Cleveland 50, Pittsburg 54, Boston 56, New York 56, Philadelphia 56, Washington 56, Galveston 70, Kansas City 54, St. Paul 56, Denver 38, San Francisco 54.

COULDN'T FIX DATES; HAD THREE CELEBRATIONS

Troy, Ill., Ended Controversy by Each Memorial Day Faction Having Its Program.

Troy, in the eastern part of Madison County, put in two weeks arguing about the proper time for Decoration Day. The question failed to reach a satisfactory conclusion, and there were three separate observances.

The Troy Cemetery Mite Society, an organization of women, decided that Saturday, May 25, was the proper time. They engaged a band and organized a parade with Edward Diemling as grand marshal. Exercises were held at the Presbyterian Church and afterward the graves were decorated.

On Sunday another memorial service was held at the Methodist Church.

The old soldiers, however, did not fancy these dates. They averred that May 30 was Decoration Day and no substitute would do, and the G. A. R. Post met and decided that a celebration should be held on the proper day.

Accordingly they engaged the U. M. W. A. band and had services at the cemetery Thursday afternoon.

Prof. M. Edwin Johnson of East St. Louis delivered the address at the old Soldiers' celebration.

MOTHER WILL LET CHILD VISIT DIVORCED HUSBAND

Robert E. Shanks' Suit Against Mrs. Frank H. Farris Dismissed by Agreement.

The suit of Robert E. Shanks to recover possession of his 11-year-old daughter, Lottie, from Mrs. Frank H. Farris, his former wife, was dismissed Friday in Judge Shields' court on a statement that Mrs. Farris had agreed to let Shanks have the child temporarily.

Shanks lives at 1600 Arlington avenue. His wife divorced him May 28, 1906, and obtained custody of their daughter. The following July she wedded former State Senator Farris. Shanks charged that Lottie was unhappy in the Farris home, where there are four other children.

FIGHT OVER PEANUTS ENDS IN POLICE COURT

Lawyer and Clerk Assessed by Judge to Pay Costs for a Frivolous Street Scene.

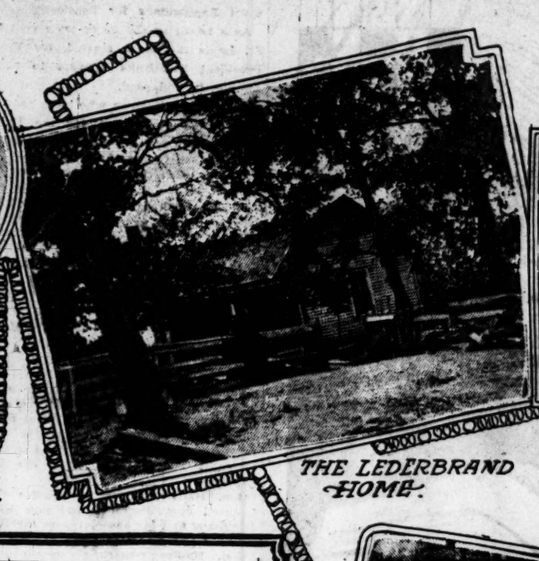
A quarrel over a bag of peanuts started a fight between Alroy S. Phillips, a lawyer, of 5665 Cates avenue, and William H. Foster, a clerk, of 4317 Lindell boulevard, at Sixth and Olive streets Wednesday afternoon and resulted in both being fined by Judge Tracy in the City Hall police Court Friday morning.

Phillips said that he made a jesting remark to Foster and another man who was with Foster, and that the third man grabbed a bag of peanuts from an Italian peddler's cart. Phillips asked if they were not going to pay for the peanuts and Foster and the other man attacked him.

Foster said Phillips started the fight without provocation. They were fined $5 and costs each, but the fines were suspended on payment of the costs.

"LITTLE MOTHER" WHO COMMITTED SUICIDE, SISTER SHE KILLED, SCENE OF SHOOTING AND THEIR HOME

CORA LEDERBRAND, WHO SHOT HER LITTLE SISTER, THEN HERSELF.



THE LEDERBRAND HOME.

CARRIE LEDERBRAND, THE MURDERED SISTER

CREEK WHERE BODIES WERE FOUND.

FOOTPRINTS TELL TALE OF TWO SISTERS' DEATH

Marks in Sand Indicate Cora Lederbrand Fought Long With Conscience Before Taking Lives of Protege and Herself.

When Cora Lederbrand, 13 years old, made up her mind to leave the tiresome, troublesome world into which Fate had thrust her, she pondered long as to whether she should go alone or take with her her 9-year-old sister, Carrie, a hopeless invalid, to whom she was a "little mother."

She did not decide until a moment before the tragedy. Starting out from her home in the sunlight of a beautiful afternoon, she held her sister on her left arm. In her right hand she carried a revolver wrapped in a newspaper.

Her movements on the banks of Sugar Creek, eight miles south of Springfield, Ill., as shown by tracks and other signs, make it almost certain that at first she meant merely to kill herself and that the shooting of her little sister was an afterthought.

What would become of Carrie if she were left behind with no "little mother" to look after her?

Decides to Slay Sister.

This thought came surging into Cora's mind as she stood waist deep in Sugar Creek and held a revolver close to her right temple. The signs on the creek bank tell this as plainly as words.

They show that Cora removed her outer skirt and her shoes and left them on the bank a quarter of a mile from her home.

She unwrapped the revolver and left the paper with her shoes and skirt.

In her stockinged feet she walked 10 yards east of this point and waded into the water. Tracks in the soft clay show that she returned to the bank and walked back to where she had left her clothing. Smaller tracks show that the little sister stood there while the "little mother," revolver in hand, had gone into the creek to end her life. These were the only tracks of the little girl. She had been carried to that point.

The footprints of Cora doubled back to the place where she first entered the water. At the last moment she decided to take the child with her into the great unknown.

Two shots in quick succession and all was over. The weary life of the "little mother" was ended and the invalid child who had been her burden was taken from a world of pain.

Their bodies were found in the creek an hour later. Near Cora's hand was found the weapon, a small revolver, little more than a toy.

Child a Heavy Burden.

When other girls in the little town on the main traveled road to Springfield were "having fun" she was burdened with the care of her sister, who, at the age of 9, was so helpless that she could not even feed herself. Unable to walk except very short distances, the child had to be carried most of the time.

But it wasn't the physical burden which shattered Cora's nerves. It was the thought that she had been cheated out of the good times which other girls had, the buggy rides, the parties, the frequent visits to the city, the attentions of young men.

She was the only girl in the village who had no sweetheart. The care of her invalid sister left her no time to entertain company.

The girl's father and brother, for whom she kept house, are dazed.

"She never complained," they say.

But the women sitting in the room of death shake their heads and mutter: "Men never know."

SAYS BOND CO. MERGER IS FRAUD

Judge Littlefield Reports on American Reserve—Mississippi Valley Trust Receiver.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 31.—Judge Walter Littlefield, special master in chancery appointed to take evidence, announced today that report of his findings in the investigation into the merger of the American Bond Reserve Co.:

"I find that the merging of the several companies was a fraudulent transaction," Judge Littlefield said, "and that the proceeds of the funds deposited with the State Treasurer of Missouri should be distributed pro rata among the creditors of the several companies, no preference being given to creditors in this State."

The State Treasurer holds $1,042,540 of the defunct company's funds. The Mississippi Valley Trust Co. of St. Louis is the receiver.

Not to Compute Interests.

Judge Littlefield said he believed no attempt would be made in the final accounting to compute interest on deposits. It has been agreed that all exceptions will be disposed of before July 1 next, preparatory to the final contest.

The case interests depositors not only all over Missouri, but in Chicago, Louisville and other cities.

No other St. Louis evening newspaper has Associated Press dispatches.

FINED $50 FOR TRYING TO KISS AN UNWILLING WOMAN

An unsuccessful attempt to steal a kiss from Mrs. Anna May of 2654 Rutger street cost William H. Rector, a blacksmith, of 3219 Hickory street, $50 when Judge Tracy was told of the incident in the City Hall Police Court Friday morning.

Mrs. May said that on the morning of May 19 Rector came to her home, walked back to the kitchen, asking to see her husband. She told him, she said, that her husband had gone fishing, whereupon, said Mrs. May, he made an effort to kiss her. She said she struggled for 20 minutes and finally he gave up the attempt.

UNCONSCIOUS ON PORCH WITH $325 IN HIS BELT

Aged St. Louis Man Started for Ireland and Is Now in Terre Haute, Ind.

Patrick Monohan of 916 Walnut street was found unconscious Friday on the front porch of a Terre Haute, Ind., home, according to a news dispatch. In a belt about his waist was $325 in gold. He is 92 years old.

Patrick Monohan Jr., a son who lives at the Walnut street address, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that his father had left home two weeks ago.

"He was angry because I wouldn't consent to move into the attic here," the son said, "and told me he was going back to Ireland. May 27 I received a telegram from the Chief of Police at Jersey City, N. J., saying that my father was held there, slightly demented, and I asked that he be sent back home. I suppose he stopped off in Terre Haute, as he always had money, but would never tell us where he got it or where property he owns is located."

DR. CABANNE LOSES PLACE WITH CITY

Man Who Led Dual Life No Longer on Payroll as Sidewalk Inspector.

ONE OF FOUR DISCHARGED

Former Owner of Land in Cabanne District Was Dependent on Salary.

Dr. James Sheppard Cabanne, who two weeks ago, as an act of reparation, married the mother of his four children, was discharged by Street Commissioner Travilla Friday from his $75-a-month city job as sidewalk inspector.

The discharge was one of four, which follow a large number of dismissals. The other men, all of whom were on the payroll at $75 a month as inspectors in various branches, were Bernard Adler, T. E. Flannigan, W. S. Lamar and W. S. Cabanne Jr., son of Dr. Cabanne, was included in the former list of dismissals. He was a clerk in the department.

Dr. Cabanne, who was the founder of fashionable Cabanne place and former owner of a large tract in the Cabanne residence district, lost his wealth and his medical practice in succession, and has in recent years been dependent almost wholly on his earnings as a city employe.

His first wife divorced him two years ago, her charge being abandonment. Not until he married Delia Doherty at Clayton, May 12, was it revealed that he had for 25 years led a dual life, maintaining a home under his own name and with his lawful wife in the West End, and being known in a humble North St. Louis neighborhood as "Mr. Norris."

Dr. Cabanne, now 68 years old, lives at 3213 North Eleventh street, where for many years, under his assumed name, he spent a large part of his time. He had first become acquainted with Delia Doherty when she was a servant in his West End home. Their oldest child is now 23 years old, and the wife of a North End grocer.

COUNTRY CHURCH HAS DEGENERATED, SAYS ROOSEVELT

Its Influence as Social and Religious Factor in Farming Communities Deplored by President.

ADDRESSES AGRICULTURAL STUDENTS AT LANSING

Declares Greatest and Grandest Ambition of Woman Should be to Become Housewife and Mother, the Conservator of American Ideals and Manhood.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LANSING, Mich., May 31.—President Roosevelt's intimate knowledge of farm life, its needs, its advantages, its faults, gleaned from his experience as a ranchman in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, was shown here today in his address at the semi-celebration of the founding of agricultural colleges in the United States.

Among many interesting things, he said the country church had lost its influence as a social and religious center, that it had gone backward, a fact greatly to be deplored. He pleaded for its revival, as he considered it one of the essentials of American farm life. The President paid a pretty compliment to the farmer's wife, painting her as the sturdiest conservator of the manhood of the nation, and asserting that she should be learned in the best duties of housewife and mother, the husband to be the home-maker, the wife to be the home-keeper.

The President's address to the big gathering follows:

"The calling of the skilled tiller of the soil, the calling of the skilled mechanic, should alike be recognized as professions, just as emphatically as the callings of lawyer, of doctor, of banker, merchant or clerk. The printer, the electrical worker, the house painter, the foundry man, should be trained just as carefully as the stenographer or the drug clerk.

Wages and Salary.

"They should be trained alike in head and hand. They should get over the idea that to earn $12 a week and call it 'salary' is better than to earn $25 a week and call it 'wages.' The young man who had the courage and the ability to refuse to enter the crowded field of the so-called professions and to take constructive industry is almost sure of an ample ample reward in earnings, in health, in reward in earnings, in health, in opportunity to marry early, and to establish a home with reasonable freedom from from worry should be commended.

"There is but one person whose welfare is as vital to the welfare of the whole country as is that of the wage-worker who does manual labor; and that is the tiller of the soil—the farmer. If there is one lesson taught by history it is that the permanent greatness of any State must ultimately depend more upon the character of its country population than upon anything else. No growth of cities, no growth of wealth can make up for a loss in either the number or the character of the farming population.

Farm Population Shrinking.

"Yet it would be idle to deny that in the last half century there has been in the eastern half of our country a falling off in the relative condition of the tillers of the soil, although signs are multiplying that the nation has waked up to the danger and is preparing to grapple effectively with it.

"East of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio and the Potomac there has been on the whole an actual shrinkage in the number of the farming population since the Civil War. In the states of this section there has been a growth of population—in some an enormous growth—but the growth has taken place in the cities, and especially in the larger cities.

"This has been due to certain economic factors, such as the extension of railroads, the development of machinery, and the openings for industrial success afforded by the unprecedented growth of cities.

"The increased facility of communication has resulted in the withdrawal from rural communities of most of the small, widely distributed manufacturing and commercial operations of former times, and the substitution therefor of the centralized commercial and manufacturing industries of the cities.

Country Church Retrograding.

"The chief offset to the various tendencies which have told against the farm has hitherto come in the rise of the physical sciences and their application to agricultural practices or to the rendering of country conditions more easy and pleasant. But these countervailing forces are as yet in their infancy. As compared with a few decades ago, the social or community life of country people in the East compares less well than it formerly did with that of the dwellers in cities.

"Many country communities have lost their social coherence, their sense of community interest.

"In such communities the country church, for instance, has gone backward both as a social and a religious factor. Now, we can not too strongly insist upon the fact that it is quite as unfortunate to have any social as any economic falling off. It would be a calamity to have our farms occupied by a lower type of people than the hard-working, self-respecting, independent and essentially manly and womanly men and women who have hitherto constituted the most typically American, and on the whole the most valuable, element in our entire nation.

"The country church must be revived. All kinds of agencies, from rural free delivery to the bicycle and the telephone, should be utilized to the utmost; good roads should be favored; everything should be done to make it easier for the farmer to lead the most active and effective intellectual, political and economic life.

"Farmers must learn the vital need of co-operation with one another. Next to this comes co-operation with the Government, and the Government can best give its aid through associations of farmers rather than through the individual farmer; for there is no greater agricultural problem than that of delivering to the farmer the large body of agricultural knowledge which has been accumulated by the National and State governments and by the agricultural colleges and schools.

Benefited the South.

"Nowhere has the Government worked to better advantage than in the South, where the work done by the Department of Agriculture in connection with the cotton growers of the Southwestern states has been phenomenal in its value. The farmers in the region affected by the boll weevil, in the course of the efforts to fight it have succeeded in developing a most scientific husbandry, so that in many places the boll weevil became a blessing in disguise. Not only did the industry of farming become of much greater economic value in its direct results, but it became immensely more interesting to thousands of families.

"The people of our farming regions must be able to combine among themselves as the most efficient means of protecting their industry from the highly organized interests which now surround them on every side. A vast field is open for work by co-operate associations of farmers in dealing with the relation of the farm to transportation and to the distribution and manufacture of raw materials. It is only through such combination that American farmers can develop to the full their economic and social power.

"All over the country there is a constant complaint of paucity of farm labor. Without attempting to go into all the features of this question I would like to point out that you can never get the right kind, the best kind, of labor if you offer employment only for a few months, for no man worth any-

BARRINGTON TO HANG JULY 25 NEAR HIS CELL

McCann's Slayer Still Pretends to Believe His Victim Is Alive.

PROTESTS INNOCENCE

"If They Hang Me July 25," He Cries, "They Will Kill a Guiltless Man."

Unless Gov. Folk interferes, F. Seymour ("Lord") Barrington will be hanged July 25 for the murder of Jas. P. McCann. The Supreme Court Thursday set that date for the execution of the death sentence. Barrington's lawyer, Wilfred Jones, will make a strong effort to have the sentence commuted to life imprisonement.

If Barrington is hanged it will be in the Clayton Jail. The gallows trap is in the floor of a passageway connecting the Courthouse with the Jail, and not 50 feet from the cell in which the bogus Lord has been imprisoned for four years.

The rain fell in slanting lines past the grated window. It was 7 o'clock Thursday night, but already the corners of the Jail were filled with black shadows. "Lord" Barrington was asleep in his cell. The rattle of the big Jail key in the lock aroused him. When the door of his cell swung open he was already on his feet.

"What is it, John, hey?"

He was fumbling with his clothing as he asked the question rather sharply.

Hears the News.

"Some news for you, Barrington," the Jailer answered.

The condemned man, groping in the dark shadows within, was mumbling apologies for his appearance. He came out scantily dressed.

A big, hulking, powerful man, with a heavy face and a bald head, his neck swathed in a cotton rag, stepped quickly to the outer grating, grasped the bars with both hands and put his nose close up between them and peered out.

"It's bad news, Barrington," said his visitor.

He said nothing, but listened anxiously.

"They've fixed the date for your hanging."

"When is it to be?" he asked quickly.

"July 25."

He put his right hand up to his face, pinched his cheek and with his heavy thumb rubbed the stubble of a beard, and the scraping of its sounded harshly.

"That's Soon, Isn't It?"

In a voice that was almost a whisper, he said: "That's soon, isn't it?"

Nobody answered him. He kept on pinching and rubbing his cheek. His pet cat came out of the cell and rubbed against his ankles, purring softly.

"Did you say June or July?" he said.

"July 25."

The jailer, thinking to comfort him, said cheerily: "Oh, that's all right, Barrington. You've been that close to it five or six times, you know, and you're not dead yet."

The condemned man laughed in a queerly unnatural sort of a way and, stooping, picked the cat up from the floor and rubbed the point of his unshaven chin upon its head.

Then he caught sight of an artist making a sketch of him. He turned and tossed the cat upon the cot in his cell.

"Here, here now, what are you doing there? You are not going to make a picture of me as I look now, undressed this way and unshaved. If you are going to draw my picture let me dress up and put on a collar."

Talks About His Case.

Then for a half hour this most noted criminal in Missouri talked and talked about his case. He brought out from beneath his cot stacks of paper, upon which he had written statements and reviews of his case. He had a printed Supreme Court report, containing the decision of his case. This had been read and thumbed until its corners were dog-eared. He stood with his back to the electric bulb in the corridor and in a loud, sing-song voice read long extracts.

He preached about his innocence, talking so rapidly that the words ran into each other.

The vanity of the man showed itself occasionally when he would stop and rebuke the artist.

"Oh, here, I am not so bald as that. My face isn't wrinkled that badly. You make me look older than I am."

Touches Night of the Murder.

He told about the night of the murder of McCann and of how impossible it would have been for him to drag the heavy body, weighing 200 pounds, up a high embankment and throw it into the quarry where it was found. He imitated the action of Mrs. McCann, the widow, when she identified the body.

"She came up this way, glanced at him and said, 'Yes, yes, that's him, the sweetest man that ever lived,' and then she ran away. She couldn't have known that it was him. He had been laying out there eight days in the sun and been buried 10 days, and his hair had all fallen out. I was there four hours right over the dead body and I don't think it was McCann. I think he is alive yet, somewhere."

As he said this he stepped mincingly across the corridor, mimicing the walk and voice of Mrs. McCann.

And so he rambled on, pleading for sympathy, appealing for an investigation and declaring that his innocence would yet be proved and that the real murderer would be found.

Becomes Excited.

As he talked he became excited and pounded with his fist upon an iron bar in front of him.

To the Jailer it was a threadbare story. He had heard it all before many times in the four years that Barrington had been in the Clayton Jail. Impatiently he tapped with his key upon the bars and began to whistle a tune, then he walked up and down and looked out at the rain, dripping from the leaves of a big maple tree.

"Well, it's getting late," said the Jailer.

Barrington went back to his cell reluctantly, with his bundle of papers under his arm, still talking, still haranguing, still protesting his innocence and after the doors were locked and the light was turned off his voice yet came from out of the shadow:

"Boys, do what you can for me. If they hang me they will hang an innocent man."

Will Be Conducted Under the Direction of Rev. Mr. Mizner.

Mrs. William R. Donaldson, 4600 Lindell boulevard, is the donor of 80 acres of farm land near Eureka, Mo., valued at $3000, to the social settlement conducted by the Rev. Henry Watson Mizner of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Sixth and Rutger streets.

A farmhouse on the land will be converted into a chapel and a dormitory to accommodate 100 persons will be completed July 1. Several cabins will later be erected.

Fifty members of the boy choir of the settlement will be sent to the farm for a two-weeks' outing during the summer.

Others who have pledged funds for the improvements of the farm, which will cost about $15,000, are Mrs. Harvey Mudd, 4144 Washington boulevard, and Mrs. J. A. Waterworth, 3800 Washington boulevard.

COLORS RUN TO HOSE THERE

Head of Cleveland Schools Thinks Some Pupils Lack Brains.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., May 31.—W. H. Elson, superintendent of instruction in the Cleveland public schools, was asked about the flashy socks, shirts and neckties affected by many of the high school boys, and the custom of taking reefs in the bottom of the trousers.

"Yes, I know," he replied. "I have been wondering whether all this is a necessary adjunct to the curriculum. I sometimes think a thirst for color in the art department runs to hose instead of canvas.

"I am of the opinion that in most cases there is a law which governs the length of one's trousers. It may be stated in a general way, as: The higher the rousers the fewer the brains."

ON WATER WAGON FOR UNION MEN

Last Barrel of "Union" Beer Will Be Manufactured Friday. Midnight.

The last barrel of "union" beer in St. Louis and the whole country, under an edict of the American Federation of Labor, will be manufactured Friday. At midnight, according to press dispatches, the Brewery Workers' Union will cease to exist in the eyes of the national labor leaders, and the 2,000,000 organized workingmen in the United States will be asked to "get on the water wagon" or use some other kind of beverage.

Brewery employes have rebelled against President Gompers and the National Labor Executive Council, and they are to be disciplined. The method adopted is that of expulsion.

Secretary Kemper of the Chicago union said Friday that the 8000 brewery workers in that city will go on brewing beer whether the American Federation of Labor regards it officially as a "union" product or not.

"The trouble has been growing for several years. Two months ago the National Labor Council met in Washington and gave the brewery workers' union until June 1 to comply with an order to oust all engineers, firemen and teamsters from its organization. These men were under the protection of the union which was in conflict with the principle of trade autonomy upheld by the federation. The brewery employes then took a vote and 98 per cent of the membership favored resistance to the order, which brought about the present situation.

FAKE DETECTIVES SENTENCED

Two Men Took Money for Not Locking Up "Prisoner."

Charles Sergeant, 2718 Laclede avenue, was sentenced Friday to three months in Jail, and Charles Walker to six months in the Workhouse, because they impersonated detectives and took $3 from Frank Lemon, 131 Convent street, on promise not to lock him up.

The men met Lemon at Thirteenth and Market streets May 21 and "arrested" him, but released him when he gave them money on their demand. Walker admitted suggesting the scheme. Both men said they were drunk and did not know what they were doing.

thing will permanently accept a system which leaves him in idleness for half the year.

Pleads for Farmer's Wife.

"And most important of all, I want to say a special word on behalf of the one who is too often the hardest-worked laborer on the farm—the farmer's wife.

"Reform, like charity, while it should not end at home, should certainly begin there; and the man, whether he lives on a farm or in a town, who is anxious to see better social and economic conditions prevail through the country at large, should be exceedingly careful that they prevail first as regards his own womankind.

"I emphatically believe that for the great majority of women the really indispensable industry in which they should engage is the industry of the home. There are exceptions, of course; but exactly as the first duty of the normal man is the duty of being the home maker, so the first duty of the normal woman is to be the home keeper.

"Exactly as no other learning is as important for the average man as the learning which will teach him how to make his livelihood, so no other learning is as important for the average woman as the learning which will make her a good housewife and mother.

"But this does not mean that she should be an overworked drudge. I have hearty sympathy with the movement to better the condition of the average tiller of the soil, of the average wageworker, and I have an even heartier sympathy and applause for the movement which is to better the condition of their respective wives. There is plenty that is hard and rough and disagreeable in the necessary work of actual life; and under the best circumstances, and no matter how tender and considerate the husband, the wife will have at least her full share of work and worry and anxiety; but if the man is worth his salt he will try to take as much as possible of the burden off the shoulders of his helpmate.

Best Crop of Farmers.

"The best crop is the crop of children; the best products of the farm are the men and women raised thereon; and the most instructive and practical treatises on farming, necessary though they be, are no more necessary than the books which teach us our duty to our neighbor, and above all to the neighbor who is of our own household.

"Do no mistunderstand me. I have not the slightest sympathy with those hysterical and foolish creatures who wish women to attain to easy lives by shirking their duties. I have as hearty a contempt for the woman who shirks her duty of bearing and rearing the children, of doing her full housewife's work, as I have for the man who is an idler, who shirks his duty of earning a living for himself and for his household, or who is selfish or brutal toward his wife and children.

"Nothing outside of home can take the place of home. The school is an invaluable adjunct to the home, but it is a wretched substitute for it. The family relation is the most fundamental, the most important of all relations. No leader in church or state, in science or art or industry, however great his achievement, does work which compares in importance with that of the father and the mother, who are the first of sovereigns and the most divine of priests."

START TAFT BOOM AS HE LEAVES CITY

Fairbanks Men Hasten to Desert His Cause for That of Secretary.

Secretary Taft is the choice of Missouri Republicans for President.

As a result of the Secretary's visit to St. Louis the boom started, for Vice-President Fairbanks appears to have completely collapsed.

State Committeemen who have heretofore shown enthusiasm for the Fairbanks candidacy are now hurrying to the Taft bandwagon.

Attorney-General Hadley, who is certain to be the next Republican candidate for Governor and is now the recognized leader of his party, believes there is no doubt the Missouri delegation to the coming Republican National Convention will be solid for Taft.

Typical of Roosevelt.

"I have always regarded Mr. Taft as the most typical representative of the Roosevelt policies," said Gen. Hadley to a Post-Dispatch reporter at the Southern Hotel Friday.

"The people love Roosevelt and they admire his administration. It seems to be generally acceptd that Mr. Taft is th President's favorite. His great public record has endeared him to the masses and in my judgment he is the foremost man in our public life today."

Gen. Hadley refused to discuss the reported opposition of Chairman Niedringhaus and his associates on the Republican Committee to Secretary Taft.

Gen. Hadley remarked significantly that he disliked factional controversies.

"I am not concerning myself," he added, "with the political features of the Missouri situation. If there is trouble in the ranks I know nothing of it, and care still less. I am merely expressing my individual regard for Secretary Taft."

Taft Sees Stifel.

In the course of his St. Louis sojourn, Secretary Taft met Otto Stifel, "the man behind the throne" in Republican State Committee affairs. They enjoyed a confidential chat for nearly an hour.

Mr. Stifel is said to have assured the secretary that the so-called schism among his Republican associates would be short-lived.

From an authoritative source comes information that the State Republican organization has practically determined the personnel of the "Big Four" to represent Missouri at the next national convention. They are:

Senator Warner, Attorney-General Hadley, Lieutenant-Governor McKinley and Charles Nagel.

Talks of President's Speech.

Secretary Taft told a Post-Dispatch reporter before his departure for Washington that President Roosevelt's Memorial day address at Indianapolis was intended as a balance speech, to clearly define his attitude on the questions of a paramount interest, particularly the regulation of the railroads and the prosecution of combinations in restraint of trade.

"I read the speech in Washington ten days ago," said Secretary Taft. "If it is fully read, as the President's utterances generally are, it will be thoroughly understood. This was intended as a balance speech.

"The President desired to convey the idea through his speech that while the law must be enforced against the common carriers and the trusts, that there must be no destruction of private property. Considered on the whole, it was a conservative expression of the President's views on these great problems.

Had a Good Time.

"My stay in St. Louis has been delightful. I do not feel that I am a stranger here, for I have visited the city so often and have become so well acquainted with the people that I feel perfectly at home. Thursday was a strenuous day for me, but my only concern was in regard to my voice.

"I was afraid that would break down before I could finish my speech at the Odeon. After that was done I did not care. I was ready to carry out my part of the program.

"After all, it is the worry that tells on one, and not the exertion. I enjoy meeting people and talking with them.

"No, I can't discuss that presidential boom which my friends say has been started for me here. Naturally, I feel grateful for the kindly expressions, and I consider myself fortunate in having the opportunity to speak to the millers of the country.

Praises the Millers.

"They are a very substantial set of men, with ideas of their own. They have made their own fortunes without joining any combines or trusts, and their friendship ought to be highly appreciated by any man in public life.

"On my way home I shall probably stop in Columbus, O., to see my mother, who has promised to meet me there. I shall refrain from political discussion, and my stay in Ohio will not be long enough to create any convulsions.

"As to whether President Roosevelt will be a candidate for renomination next year you will have to look elsewhere for information. I am not in a position to discuss the question."

GOULD'S WIFE DRINKS HEAVILY, SAYS SECRETARY

Veach, Who Fled to Avoid Divorce Trial, Subpenaed in Iowa.

HUSBAND TO TELL ALL.

Brothers George and Frank Probably Will Testify for Him.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DES MOINES, Io., May 31.—That Mrs. Howard Gould is addicted to drink is the statement made here today by her former private secretary, Harry Veatch, who left here last October and came here to hide in his brother's hotel, the Kirkwood, until the divorce trial in New York should blow over. Gould's lawyers and the New York police, whom Mrs. Gould has angered, have been looking for Veatch.

He says that he desired to keep out of the case because he had been employed as private secretary, had always obtained his salary promptly and been well treated.

Today a detective from New York slapped Veatch on the shoulder and served him with a subpena.

GOULD SAYS HE WILL TELL ALL

NEW YORK, May 31.—When Howard Gould is haled into court by the suit for a separation brought by his wife, formerly Miss Katherine Clemmons, it is likely that his brothers, George and Frank, will be called to testify in his behalf. It was announced yesterday by an intimate friends of Mr. Gould that, although it would be extremely distasteful to members of the family to appear in court, the two brothers had expressed their willingness to do so.

From present indications it seems assured that the whole history of the domestic troubles of Howard Gould and his wife will come out when the case is finally taken into court.

Mr. Gould himself says that there will be no change in the present plan of proceedure; that he will face the charges of his wife in court and will retaliate by plain speaking in regard to her conduct during the years they lived together.

Mrs. Gould is equally emphatic in asserting that she will conceal nothing and that she will accept no settlement before the case comes to trial.

Howard Gould's reply to his wife's suit will not be made public, at least until June 6, which is the limit allowed by law. Mr. Gould's reply, which is now ready to be filed, is a voluminous document, almost as large as the budget containing the bill of complaint served upon him through counsel a fortnight ago.

Advice to Careful Housekeepers

Many doctor bills could be eliminated by proper disinfection in the home.

Absolute cleanliness means thorough disinfection, and it is the lack of cleanliness which causes most disease.

ARKANSAS TO OUST WESTERN UNION

Proclamation Revoking Telegraph Company's Charter Will Be Issued Saturday.

LAW VIOLATION CHARGE

Refused to Pay $25,000 Fees Due the State Under the Wingo Act.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 31.—The Western Union Telegraph Co. will lose its charter to do business in Arkansas, according to Secretary of State Ludwig, unless it withdraws its suit to restrain the State from collecting $25,000 in fees, which are due under the new Wingo law. Secretary Ludwig has notified the company that he is preparing to revoke its charter and says that the proclamation will be issued tomorrow.

The announcement, after giving a summary of the law, will declare that violation of it results when a suit is entered in a Federal court to prevent authorities from carrying out its provisions.

Three days is given the company in which to turn over to the State the $25,000 due. The Wingo law was enacted by the last Legislature.

Suit in Violation of Law.

Attorney-General Kirby, in giving his opinion, says that no foreign corporation has a right to do business in any State, without a special permit, unless it carries on interstate commerce, and that the Western Union, even if it has been in the State a long time and has attempted to comply with all later laws, is still subject to new regulations. He adds that if the company has brought suit in a Federal court against the prosecuting attorneys of the State, without their consent, it is liable to the revocation of its State chater, under a clause in the Wingo act.

New York Millionaire Takes Management of Boys' Club From the Y. M. C. A.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 31.—Edwin Bancroft Foote, the New York millionaire who provided $50,000 for a boys' club, to be operated under the direction of the New Haven Y. M. C. A., today invited that organization to stop managaging the club. He said in explaining his request:

"You see I am lame. The reason is that my leg has been pulled by the New Haven Y. M. C. A., for several years in the past until now I can hardly walk without a cane. Whenever passing through Connecticut my leg commences to ache in reaching North Haven. I can hardly stand the pain until I pass the city. Then I feel much improved.

"I thought I was dealing with Christian gentlemen when I gave the Y. M. C. A. money for the formation and equipment of the club and perhaps did not protect myself legally."

One of the association directors of Mr. Foote's boys' club is also a director of the Equitable Life Assurance Society.

Restrictions

The word may mean a great deal or nothing. The restrictions in University Heights mean a great deal. They mean that all residences must be set on a given building line on each street, private stables on another, no flats or boarding houses can be built or maintained, no livery stables, saloons or anything else but private homes are permitted in this great residence park. Houses must cost not less than a fixed amount according to location. Only one house on a lot, so as to guarantee open park like front lawns; no nuisances of any sort. Down on Locust street, from 14th to 18th street, they are now building a number of great warehouses. For several years past this has been largely a location of cheap boarding houses. Not so many years ago it was the most fashionable, desirable and high-class RESIDENCE part of St. Louis. Suppose a mile square right in there had been laid out as a grand private residence section and RESTRICTED exclusively to that use, with beautiful boulevards, open parks and superb entrances. Those grand mansions now being torn down would STILL be the homes of wealth and fashion. The same thing has happened to every fashionable residence district in St. Louis as the city has grown westward. It is now happening in the very heart of the present most fashionable West End residence district. Great stables, rows of flats and stores are crowding into the heart of our beautiful residence district from Taylor to Union boulevard. A two hundred thousand dollar home, three years after completion, is surrounded by a livery stable, a row of flats and other like attractions. There is only ONE remedy for this condition, and that is to lay out and permanently restrict a great tract of property a mile square. That is what we have done in

UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS

And we are now going to ENLARGE the restricted district by laying out and restricting the adjoining property. A home here will REMAIN A HOME as long as you and your children live, doubling in value from year to year.

In order to raise the funds necessary to pay off all remaining incumbrance and improve the great adjoining tracts, making this entire property one great beautiful home park nearly a mile square, we shall

SUICIDE LEFT ONLY ONE OF FRIENDLY FOUR

Survivor of Companions in City Hospital Work Took No Warning.

THREE ENDED LIVES

Saw Daily Tragedies of Large City, but Gave No Heed to Lesson.

The suicide of Charles Austin, a clerk at the City Hospital, has revealed the fact that he was the third of four poor companions, all at one time attaches at the hospital, to take his own life. The fourth is a wreck from drugs and alcohol and is what the police call "a Market street floater."

Austin shot himself a week ago and, because of the fact that he was formerly a soldier, he will be buried at Jefferson Barracks, the funeral taking place Saturday.

Records at the Coroner's office show that on July 15, 1906, Harry Lanitz died from drinking carbolic acid. Another record six months later relates that Albert J. Walsh died from deadly cyanide of potassium. A third record of recent date tells of the death of Charles Austin, who shot and killed himself. These three and a fourth were the inseparables, "The Friendly Four" at the hospital.

Until he lost the place last December, Austin was in charge of the patient's reception room. Of the four, his six years' term of service was longest. He was at the hospital in 1901 when Lanitz came, and in 1903 when Walsh came and when MacDonald, the surviving member of the four found employment there.

In Close Touch With Tragedy.

Austin received all patients who entered the hospital. Lanitz was an assistant to the surgeons in the dressing room. As record clerk Walsh wrote the history of hospital patients. MacDonald was receiving clerk at the front door, and his work was to meet relatives and friends of patients. The lives of the four men were interwoven with all the tragedy of a great city.

Lanitz and Walsh were sons of West End families of present prominence. MacDonald came to St. Louis from Mississippi and Austin was from New York. Austin was oldest. He had passed 50. Walsh was 10 years younger and Lanitz and MacDonald were but 35. Almost from the time they were first thrown together, an understanding from which the rest of the institution was excluded grew between the four men. Besides the bond their employment placed upon them, their characteristics were strikingly similar.

The sleeping quarters of the four were in the same part of the building and this brought them together when they were not working. All four at first were trustworthy men of promise, but they were "good fellows." Escapades in which they figured began to be talked of and some of the stories that were told of them finally reached the ears of the management of the hospital.

Three Lost Their Positions.

Lanitz was the first to go and within a few months Walsh and MacDonald lost their positions.

All three returned to the hospital at frequent intervals, but they came as patients and they were treated in the observation ward as alcoholics. Austin received them in his old position. Shortly after that period Lanitz lost his mind and after treatment he was sent to the insane asylum. At the asylum he appeared to be improving and was granted some liberties. On the morning of the day of his death he escaped from the lawn of the asylum, where he was mowing the grass, and a few hours later his body was found on Hartford avenue between Russell place and Gustine avenue.

On the Sunday morning of Dec. 30, 1905 Barry Bonds, the clerk of a Market street cheap lodging house, found one of his roomers dead in bed. A bottle of cyanide of potassium was found in the dead man's pockets and the victim's knowledge of this most deadly drug was wondered at until the inquest revealed that the man was Albert Walsh, the former hospital employe.

Lost Fortune By Drinking.

An incident of Walsh's life was then recalled by some of his acquaintances at the hospital. He had told them that a fund of $25,000 had been placed in trust to be given to him on the condition that he abstained from liquor for a term of three years. He also told them he had lost this fund by a narrow margin of eight months. He was buried near Lanitz in Calvary Cemetery.

Austin's funeral, which was paid for by his former friends at the hospital, took place Wednesday. Last Saturday morning police who were called to his room at 1825 Kennett place found him in bed with a discharged revolver in his hand. Physicians at the hospital spared no efforts to save the life of "Old Charlie" Austin, but he died Monday.

Number Four still lives, but he is a frequent patient in the alcoholic ward at the hospital. Since the time he was confined there for a few days in April as the result of his over indulgence in morphine and whisky, he has not been seen. Only a few remember him as a member of "the Friendly Four."

1900 WORK HORSES IN LINE

New York Is Pleased With Novelty of Parade.

NEW YORK, May 31.—New York saw its first annual work-horse parade yesterday and liked it. The affair was a pronounced success. There were 1900 horses in line, distributed in 47 classes.

The first division was made up of entries from the police, fire, street-cleaning, correction, health, charities and park departments, and the city hospitals.

Next came a division of aged horses, in two classes—class A, open to animals not fewer than 15 years in the service of owner, and class B, for animals not fewer than ten years in the service of a single owner. Then followed classes for brewers, bakers, truckmen, laundrymen and butchers.

Every man in New York who owned a likely work horse had a chance to squeeze him into one of the classes and show him. In awarding prizes animals that had been longest in service were favored.

Southwick stated that he believed Mrs. Connor was sane when she was committed to the asylum in 1888, but that she had since become insane through her associations at the institution.

WOMAN CAUSES SCENE IN HOTEL

Clerks at Jefferson Refuse to Allow Wife to See Dr. Price A. Mansfield.

Mrs. May Mansfield, wife of Price A. Mansfield, proprietor of the City Hall drug store, Twelfth and Pine streets, caused a scene in the lobby of the Jefferson Hotel at 4 a. m. Friday by crying out that she was starving to death. This scene followed her husband's refusal to see her after she sent a card to his room. The couple separated a few hours before this incident occurred.

The Mansfields have been living at the Hotel Rozier. Mansfield left there last night and registered at the Jefferson. Early in the morning his wife appeared.

The clerks permitted her to send up a card. Dr. Mansfield sent word back that he would not come down.

She cried out, arousing everyone in the lobby of the hotel. She was assisted back to the Rozier and Dr. M. Ralph D. Riley, her physician, was summoned. She went to bed and was pronounced quite ill later in the morning.

Miss Lola Knight of 703 Aubert avenue telephoned to the Post-Dispatch office at noon that she was not the woman found in an alley by the police and that someone else had used her name. She said she could prove that she was in South St. Louis at 5:30 p. m. Thursday.

READY FOR THE BIG SCHOOL FETE

Elaborate Program Prepared for the Annual Teachers' Festival.

GREAT CROWD EXPECTED

Day's Gaiety Includes Athletic Contest, Ball Games, Singing and Dancing.

The fifth grand annual festival of the united public schools for the benefit of the Teaches' Benevolent Annuity Association will be held Saturday at the old Fair Grounds, Natural Bridge road and Grand avenue. This is an event in which everybody in St. Louis is taking an interest, and the festival promises to be a big success. The teachers and all the school children have been making enthusiastic preparations and the parents of the children are lending their support.

The Annuity association includes all the teachers in the public schools and takes care of their colleagues who are retired from active service.

Elaborate Program.

The program offers a diversified list of attractions, including athletic contests, a dance, singing, fireworks, drills and an automobile parade. During the day bands will play in different parts of the grounds. The tableau "Demonstration of Constitutional Liberty" has been withdrawn because it would occupy space that will be needed to accommodate the large crowd that will attend, the advance sale of tickets having been a record-breaker.

In the morning finals will be played in the Post-Dispatch Baseball League, and there will be basketball games.

The grammar school field events will begin at 9 a. m. and continue until finished.

Thirty-two Seniors from the Teachers' College, directed by Miss Ethel Weeden, will give the Swedish folk dance, "Vafva Vadmal" at 10 a. m.

Sing Patriotic Songs.

A feature will be the singing of patriotic songs by a chorus of 1000 pupils from the colored schools at 11:30 a. m.

The display of fireworks will begin at 1:30 p. m. The automobile parade is set for 4:30 p. m., entering through the Grand avenue gate. Competitive teams from the St. Louis Turnbezirk are scheduled for a wand drill at 5 p. m.

During the day samples of penmanship and drawing done in the schools will be on exhibition in booths south of the grandstand.

OBJECTION TO LABOR AGENCY

Business Men Do Not Want New One on Market Street.

The Board of Police Commissioners was called upon Friday afternoon to decide whether a labor agency should be permitted to open an office at 1017 Market street. Business men in the district are protesting. Henry J. McNichols, proprietor of the McNichols Furniture Co., 1024 Market street, presented a petition to the commissioners signed by the business men of the neighborhood protesting against granting the permit.

F. Thias and James S. Hanna circulated a petition to install a labor agency at 1017 Market street and secured the necessary number of names. McNichols claims the men said they intended opening an intelligence office. The merchants object to a labor agency on the grounds that an uninviting crowd gathers around these offices and their presence would injure business.

PROSECUTOR DID NOT APPEAR

Mamie Cavanaugh Released After She Had Surrendered.

The failure of Edward Gerlach, 947 Larmier, Brooklyn, N. Y., to appear against Mamie Cavanaugh, whom he charged with robbing him of $210, resulted in the woman's release after she had voluntarily surrendered at the Four Courts when she learned that she was wanted by the police.

It was erroneously stated at the time that Mamie Cavanaugh had been arrested at 2128 Olive street.

RAIN FLOODS STREETS AND BLOCKS THE CARS

Precipitation of 2.28 Inches Was More Than Sewers Could Carry Away.

A five-hour rain during which the total rainfall was 2.28 inches, flooded streets and interfered with traffic, between 4 and 9 p. m. Thursday. Many sewers were overflowed.

In the territory bounded by Twentieth street, Blair avenue, Ferry and Penrose streets, the water was 18 inches deep and the cars made no attempt to move. Twentieth street has no sewer.

Forty barrels of flower were ruined in a cellar at Henry Weber's bakery, 4249 North Twentith street. Stock at the Robinson Fire Extinguisher Co., 4252 North Twentieth street, was damaged. A Chinese laundry at 4253 North Twentieth street was flooded and the week's laundering soaked.

Sand washing on the Southampton line stopped traffic there. Bellefontaine cars could not get through Twentieth street, and ran over from Gravois road on Jefferson avenue to Hebert street and Grand avenue. They returned by Florissant, Grand and Easton avenues.

On King's highway the sand washed on the track and the Chouteau line was blocked. One Chouteau car jumped the track. A Cass avenue car jumped the track at Union boulevard and St. Louis avenue because of the sand.

Water flooded the streets at Chouteau and Mississippi avenues, where a sewer was choked.

That is meeting with a tremendous response. Take prompt advantage of it tomorrow.

NEGRO JUMPS INTO CARRIAGE WITH WOMAN

She Tries Unsuccessfully to Push the Intruder From Vehicle.

BEATEN BY HUSBAND

Ferguson Liveryman Sees Bride Struggle With Young Mulatto.

W. C. Dyer, a Ferguson liveryman, used his fists to punish a 19-year-old mulatto severely when the young negro jumped into a buggy with Mrs. Dyer, a bride of nine months, and attempted to drive away with her. He dragged the negro from the buggy and beat him severely, until the negro broke away and ran.

Dyer received a telephone message at 6 p. m. Thursday to send a "rig" to the railroad station in Ferguson and take a passenger home. He was busy, and Mrs. Dyer agreed to go in his place. A buggy was driven to the front of their home, at Dorse and Florissant roads, and Mrs. Dyer stepped into it. Her husband was in a front room of their home.

Just as Mrs. Dyer was gathering up the reins the young negro, a discharged employe at her husband's livery stable, known only to them as "Louis," passed, and when he saw Mrs. Dyer he jumped into the buggy.

Husband to the Rescue.

Mrs. Dyer, screaming, tried to push the intruder from the seat. Her husband heard her outcry and ran to her aid. The horse, prancing with fright, started to run, but Mrs. Dyer grasped the reins and checked it just as Dyer laid hands on the collar of the mulatto.

The negro was jerked from the carriage, and Dyer struck him repeatedly in the face until the blood ran.

After a few moments the negro wrested himself from the hands of the infuriated husband and ran at top speed down the street. Mrs. Dyer was too much shaken by the incident to make the trip to the railroad station, and her husband went in her stead.

Mrs. Dyer was Miss Irene James of Ferguson and is an attractive young matron. She and Dyer were married last August. They have decided not to prosecute the negro, whom they think has been sufficiently punished already.

"BOOSTER" POWER USED TO CARRY THE HOLIDAY CROWD

Erected at Jefferson Barracks, It Sends Reinforced Current for Cars.

The vast throngs that reached Jefferson Barracks for the Decoration day memorial exercises Thursday were handled, without any material break in the congested Broadway line schedule, by a novel method, adopted especially by the United Railways Co.

A powerhouse on wheels, dubbed "the booster" by the street railroad employes, was installed just within the Government track at Jefferson Barracks. The extra power required to supply the special cars that run to the Barracks Thursday was transmitted to the "booster" from the South Broadway powerhouse at 4041 South Broadway. At the "booster" the electricity was reinforced by transformers and sent singing back through the wires to the Broadway powerhouse.

The mighty current of electricity that left the South Broadway powerhouse traveled south along the trolley wire until it reached the "booster." Then it switched into the first power car and on into the second, being reinforced and returning over the northbound trolley wire with a power equal to that which left the powerhouse, thus making the "booster" a powerhouse in itself.

SNOW BALL BREAKS THE ICE FOR TWO WEDDINGS

One Couple Are Already Married But the Bridegroom Is Locked Up by Father.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 31.—A snowball deftly tossed at a toboggan party last winter broke the ice of conventionality which bound four young persons and has resulted already in one wedding and the setting of the date for the second.

Frank G. Carpenter Jr., 19 years old, of Evanston, was the first to succumb to the effects of the snowball. He and Miss Adele Louise Shervick, 20 years old, the girl who tossed the snowball, were married a few days ago. They tried to keep it secret, but their parents found it out. Carpenter's father has locked him in his room as a consequence, and the bride is at her mother's.

With Carpenter at the time he was struck with the snowball was George Wallace of Evanston. A part of the snowball thrown by Miss Shervick hit Wallace, and when he turned to see from whence it came he saw a chum of the new Mrs. Carpenter and promptly fell a victim. Wallace and his "snowball sweetheart" will be married next month.

TRAIN LOSES LOADED CAR

Rolls Out of the Middle and Down 100-Feet Embankment.

As a Wabash freight train passed through Ferguson at a high rate of speed Thursday evening. A heavy loaded freight car became detached from the center of the train as it was rounding a curve and rolled down a 100-foot embankment.

The remainder of the train proceeded before it was found that a car was missing. It is believed that the car was overloaded on one side.

CONSTABLES HUNT POLITICIAN

Want to Serve Committeeman Daly in Suit for Stable Rent.

Constables from Justice O'Hallaron's court have sought in vain since May 8 to locate Lawrence ("Lawlor") Daly, member of the Democratic State Committee. They are anxious to serve on him a landlord's summons for $48 rent and the possession of a brick stable at 209 North Jefferson avenue.

Suit was filed May 8 by John E. McKinney, owner, who claims that Daly owes him rent for a period from Jan. 15 to May 15, 1907, at $12 per month.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, May 31.—Secretary of State Ludwig has notified the Western Union Telegraph Co. that unless the suit to enjoin the State from collecting $25,000 from the company for fees under the Wingo act was withdrawn and the amount paid within three days he would revoke the company's license to do business in Arkansas.

CHILD HOLDING FATE OF DUNNE IS DISCOVERED

Ida Bunting 9 Years Old Says She Saw Him Hit John Cook.

SHE KNEW BOTH MEN

"Mamma, I Saw Mr. Dunne Hit 'Blackie' With Stick," She Said.

Ida Bunting, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Bunting, 5025 Ridge avenue, is the child witness whose name and address have been kept secret by Circuit Attorney Sager, by whom she is expected to give testimony that will convict John R. Dunne, 23 years old, of the murder of John (Blackie) Cook, January 9, 1907.

Dunne was once convicted and sentenced to 12 years for killing Cook, but was rearrested two weeks ago, following the refusal of Assistant Circuit Attorney Newton to prosecute him after a new trial had been granted.

The child has sworn before the Grand Jury that she saw Dunne strike Cook with a scantling.

Parents Guarded Secret.

Although she told her parents she was an eye-witness to the killing of Cook they guarded the secret. It was quite by accident, through a remark dropped by a member of the Bunting household, that Circuit Attorney Sager learned that Ida had seen the tragedy.

When Dunne went to the Four Courts to have his bond canceled the police rearrested him.

Last Monday the child was taken before the Grand Jury and related her story.

Ida was returning home about 5:30 o'clock the evening of January 9, this year. As she neared the alley paralleling Page avenue, north of that street, she saw a man strike another a heavy blow on the head with a scantling.

Ran Home and Told Mother.

Frightened at what she had seen Ida ran home, a block distant, and told her mother.

"Mama, I saw Mr. Dunne hit 'Blackie' Cook with a stick and I think he killed him."

Cook was employed as a man of all work in the saloon of D. H. Morische, 5000 Easton avenue. Dunn was a lounger. The child knew both. She told the grand jury it was Dunn she saw clubbing Cook.

About 7 o'clock the same evening Dr. W. W. Vaughan of 5003 Page boulevard stumbled over Cook's body. He notified Patrolman Frank McCarthy. Dr. Vaughan and Cook had been dead about an hour.

Beside Cook's body lay a scantling—a 2x4, two feet long. Stains of blood were on it, and bloody wisps of hair clung to it. On Cook's head and face there were deep gashes.

Bloodstains on Dunn's Clothing.

The police learned Dunn was the one last seen in Cook's company. They arrested Dunn and found blood on his hat and clothing. These stains Dunn explained as having come from wounds received in a fight with another man.

Emory Yoeman, 1518 Cora avenue, and Lawrence B. Waters, a bricklayer, 5036 Easton avenue, testified they had heard Dunn and Cook quarreling in Morische's saloon an hour or two before the killing.

Ten minutes later both left the saloon through a side door opening into King's highway and walked south toward Page boulevard, Waters testified.

The Coroner's jury held Dunn responsible for Cook's death. He was found guilty in Judge Muench's division of Criminal Court. His punishment was fixed at 12 years in the Penitentiary.

Thought Evidence Was Weak.

It was at the hearing on his application for a new trial—May 18—that Assistant Circuit Attorney Newton entered the nolle prosequi, explaining that the State had no right to press the charges on the evidence at hand.

After Dunn's release on bond he obtained employment with the Kinloch Telephone Co. He lives with his parents, at 5069 Minerva avenue. His family is highly respected.

Mr. and Mrs. Bunting, parents of the child, whose word has brought Dunn for the second time face to face with a charge of murder, informed a reporter for the Post-Dispatch that their daughter had told the story of the tragedy to the grand jury Monday.

"Ida saw Dunn strike Cook with the scantling," said Mrs. Bunting. "She knew it was Dunn, and couldn't have been mistaken. We didn't want to let her testify in court because she is nervous and it would be an awful experience for her. That's why we didn't tell the police at first.

"It was only an accident that the police ever learned that my little girl saw the killing. She has told the truth, and will relate the story at the trial."

Mrs. Bunting refused to say who it was that gave the information to the police. She would not permit a reporter to see her daughter.

FAMILY ESCAPES MOB IN BOX CAR

Engineer's Quick Wit Saves Whites From Injury by Infuriated Negroes.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., May 31.—The quick wits of an engineer probably saved T. L. Amonds and family from mob violence this afternoon, when he was attacked by an infuriated crowd of negro laborers at Taft, near this city. Amonds as a bridge foreman had difficulty with his men and ordered all negroes off the job, and when D. Kane refused to obey he was fatally shot by Amonds. The wounded man's companions attacked Amonds and his family, who took refuge in a nearby box car. The engineer on a work engine some distance away took in the situation at a glance and came to the rescue. He backed up and coupled the car before the negroes were aware what had happened and pulled into Muskogee.

REPUBLICAN WAR ON NIEDRINGHAUS

Senator Warner and Attorney-General Hadley Planning the Campaign.

EFFORT TO OUST CHAIRMAN

Real Struggle Is Expected to Be Over the United States Senatorship.

Many Republican politicians are of the opinion that United States Senator Warner and Attorney-General Hadley will undertake, within the next year, a complete reorganization of the State Committee, of which Thomas K. Niedringhaus, an avowed senatorial candidate, is chairman. If the plans which are believed to be under consideration are carried out an effort will be made to oust Niedringhaus as chairman, or at least defeat him for re-election next year.

Niedringhaus has already announced his candidacy for the senatorship, and the party machinery is being used to promote his interests. A part of the Niedringhaus program is to make Hadley Governor. When the State chairman's candidacy for the senatorship was announced it was said this was a warning to Hadley to keep out of the senatorial race.

Niedringhaus is laying plans to get complete control of the Republican organization in Missouri. He desires to retain not only the chairmanship of the State Committee, but to dictate the delegates to the national convention, which will elect a national committeeman to succeed Thomas J. Akins. It is said that the Niedringhaus forces will endeavor to have Walter S. Dickey, of Kansas City elected National Committeeman.

Planned in Kansas City.

Dickey is a man of wealth, and an effort is to be made to put him on the Executive Committee of the National Committee so that he can get the money needed to carry Missouri for the Republicans. Niedringhaus is also seeking to control the congressional and county committees so that he will have powerful support in his senatorial race. Warner and Hadley, who are reputed to be opposed to Niedringhaus' plans, are both Kansas City men, and are credited with being the originators of a movement to reorganize the State Committee to deprive Niedringhaus of his power.

It is apparent, Republican leaders say, that in a direct primary Niedringhaus would poll 75 per cent of the Republican vote of St. Louis.

"It is difficult to figure on a man to beat Niedringhaus," said a well-known Republican Friday. "With the party reins in his hands another year at least he will build up a strong army of loyal workers, who will extend their influence to every part of the State."

Hadley has been frequently mentioned for Senator, but the party managers feel that the governorship is more important to them at the next election. Another point considered by the politicians is that Hadley has not yet assured anybody that he will take the gubernatorial nomination, even if it is handed to him on a gold platter.

"The mention of my name for Governor is gratifying so far as it goes," Hadley said Friday. "Candidly speaking, I have not considered the matter at all. It will be time enough to do that next year. It has always been my desire to get back into private life."

KILLED RELATIVE IN SELF-DEFENSE

Judge Hayes Dies From Wound Son-in-Law Inflicted—Old Grudge Renewed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., May 31.—Judge John A. Hayes, formerly of the Butler County bench, who was shot by his son-in-law, James (Willia...son, at the latter's home, about twenty miles south of this city, died last night from the results of the injuries inflicted by Williamson.

Four years ago Williamson was married to Hayes' only daughter and went to reside on Judge Hayes' farm. Not long after the marriage difficulties arose between Williamson and his father-in-law.

The bad feeling was augmented until there was deep-seated hatred. Williamson's wife became sick several days ago with pneumonia and her father was notified by Williamson of her illness and asked to come to the house.

Old Grudge Renewed.

Hayes before reaching the house, met his son-in-law in the road. The young man is said to have spoken to Hayes in a friendly manner and Hayes renewed the old grudge by cursing him, it is declared by Williamson.

Hayes then went to the sickroom of his daughter and Williamson entered from a rear door. As soon as Hayes saw Williamson he began abusing him again, according to Williamson.

He says he asked his father-in-law to desist, when Hayes drew a revolver, brandishing it, and then he fired and Hayes fell.

Hayes Well-Known Politician.

A special train was run to the scene of the tragedy with physicians and surgeons. He died at 10 o'clock last night. Hayes was a member of the City Council from the First Ward, and was one of the wealthiest and most influential Republican politicians in this county.

Williamson is a young man of good repute. If yes was the father of Rube Hayes, who shot and killed two men in this county a few years ago and served in the Penitentiary ninety days when he was pardoned.

Williamson came to the city immediately after the shooting and surrendered to sheriff McCown. He brought both his and Hayes' revolvers. Williamson is in jail. His preliminary trial will be held Saturday.

Fred Reichel of 1606 Biddle street reported to the police of the Carr Street District that a negress on Thursday night had robbed him of $151.

NEWS FROM THE EAST SIDE

EAST ST. LOUIS QUEEN WHOSE CHICKEN COOPS WORRY CITY

"HAPPY HOLLOW QUEEN" ON JOB WITH SHOTGUN

Mrs. Minnie Bradley Defies East St. Louis to Move Her Coops From Under Viaduct While Repairers Haul Stone.

Mrs. Minnie Bradley, the "Queen of Happy Hollow," was on the job with her shotgun Friday morning at her frame house in the shadow of the Broadway viaduct, East St. Louis, waiting for the threatened visit of the bridge repairers, who have announced their purpose to tear down her coal shed and chicken coop.

She has given the city of East St. Louis a fair chance, she declared, as she sat in her doorway, casting alternate glances at the "improvements" on the banks of raging Cahokia Creek and the convenient fowling piece resting in a corner of the room. She has offered to sell chicken coop, coal shed, house and all for $2000 to the municipality.

"I have seen a lawyer," said she, "and he advised me to stand pat. They can buy the whole place—I won't sell the sheds without the house—or they can let me alone, and that's all there is to it."

Admiring neighbors, long subjects of the "Queen," viewed with alarm the depositing of a load of stone on the creek's bank, preparatory to the work of strengthening the viaduct. The new sub-structure, according to the plans of the City Engineer, is to rise on the present site of Mrs. Bradley's coal shed and chicken coop.

WIFE, AGED 19, SEEKS HER SECOND DIVORCE

Mrs. Marjorie Lampert of East St. Louis Says She Won't Marry Again.

When Mrs. Marjorie Lampert of East St. Louis filed a suit for divorce against Joseph Lampert Thursday in the City Court of East St. Louis, it was the second divorce application of the pretty 19-year-old wife within two years. She was married to her first husband May 1, 1905. She asks for the custody of her 1-year-old child by the first marriage.

Mrs. Lampert says she will never marry again.

She married May 1, 1905, to Frank E. Barnes when she was 16 years old. In March, 1906, they disagreed and a separation followed. Mrs. Barnes filed a suit for divorce, but her husband died before the divorce application was heard.

She met Lampert before the death of her first husband, and in September, 1906, they were married, shortly after Barnes' death.

Mrs. Lampert says her husband's love soon grew cold. The divorce suit culminated their married life of less than a year.

DANCER JOSTLED A GIRL; THEN EVERYBODY FOUGHT

Fireworks Station Hall Wrecked Before Its Manager Drove Combatants Outside.

A free-for-all fight among the customers of Prof. Graff's dancehall at Fireworks Station adjoining East St. Louis Wednesday night, and an unanswered appeal to Constable Barney Williams, a rival dancehall owner across the street, to perform his duties as a peace officer, ended at 11 p. m. after the lights had been turned out and the fighters ejected. The front door and several windows were broken in the skirmish.

The fight began at 10 p. m. and it was almost 11 p. m. before the factions had been driven from the hall.

One of the factions then took possession of the first street car to arrive and refused to allow others to get aboard.

The fight started, Prof. Graff says, during a waltz. When the dancers became slightly crowded in one corner one man accused another of unnecessarily jostling the girl with whom he was dancing.

The challenge was followed by a blow, and the fight was on. Prof. Graff says that the best way he has to stop these arguments is to put the disturbing element out of the hall and close the doors.

MINISTER WANTS DEBATE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Rev. Harmon Will Hear Lecturer Answer His Attacks and Welcomes Controversy.

Rev. John F. Harmon, pastor of the First M. E. Church in East St. Louis, who recently attacked Christian Science from his pulpit in a sermon, says he has not been officially invited to attend the lecture on "Christian Science" to be delivered Friday night in the City Hall auditorium, East St. Louis, but he says he thinks he will attend anyhow.

The followers of Christian Science have extensively advertised Friday night's lecture in the City Hall by Clarence Buskirk, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship of the Boston Church, as an answer to Rev. Mr. Harmon's attacks.

It was announced Thursday that a committee would be sent to invite Harmon to attend the lecture.

Rev. Mr. Harmon says that Sunday night he will again preach a sermon on Christian Science and compare its theories with Biblical teachings.

"Whether the committee comes or not would make no difference to me," said Rev. Mr. Harmon, "for I will attend the lecture anyway. I am glad that my talks on the subject have had the effect of bringing a Christian Science lecturer into this field and I am sure that if he would consent to a joint debate I could convince him and the audience that he was on the wrong track."

As I am the largest manufacturer of men's fine Hand-Sewed Process shoes in the world, it is necessary for me to purchase leather and other materials in enormous quantities; the benefit of the very low prices I obtain I give to the wearer in superior quality over other makes.

If I could take you into my large factories at Brockton, Mass., and show you how carefully W. L. Douglas shoes are made, you would then understand why they hold their shape, fit better, wear longer and are of greater value than any other make.

ESCAPING GAS KILLS WOMAN AND TWO MEN

Metal Cap Knocked From Unused Pipe Results in Three Deaths.

FOURTH VICTIM SAVED

Triple Tragedy Occurs in Rooming House on Lawton Avenue.

Three persons were killed by asphyxiation and another was overcome Thursday night in a rooming house at 3446 Lawton avenue. The dead are Joseph H. Gabler and his wife, Ida, and Daniel Dwyer, who occupied a room adjoining theirs. Thomas Hines, who slept with Dwyer, is thought to be recovering at the City Hospital.

Three children of Dwyer, the oldest 7, whom he placed in a charitable home Thursday, are sought by the police, who have not learned what home they were taken to. They are presumably in ignorance that they are now fatherless as well as motherless. Mrs. Dwyer died a month ago.

In the Gablers' room a metal cap from an unused gas pipe was found lying on the floor, and gas was escaping freely from the pipe. The threads of the pipe were worn and the cap may have been accidentally knocked off in moving a dresser beside it.

The room occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Gabler for light housekeeping is at the front of the second floor. At the east side of the room stood a dresser, with a gas pipe on each side of it. Only the pipe to the south of the dresser was equipped with a fixture. That to the north was stopped with a metal cap.

Rooms Filled With Gas.

Michael Gilleran, proprietor of the rooming house, went to call Dwyer and Hines at 5 a. m. Friday, they having planned to start to work at that hour. He received no response to his knocks, and forced the transom. A rush of gas sent him gasping from the chair on which he stood.

Gilleran alarmed the house and the door was forced. Hines and Dwyer were found unconscious on their bed, which was on the south side of the room. Dwyer was lying face downward, his mouth and nostrils buried in a pillow, as if in a last effort to shut out from his lungs the suffocating gas. Physicians were summoned and a general alarm was given. Dwyer expired at the house, before medical aid reached him, and his body was taken to the Morgue. Hines was revived after a short time and was sent to the City Hospital.

Man and Wife Found Dead.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabler were apparently dead when found. They lay in the same position Dwyer had occupied. The windows of both rooms were closed, this being explained by the rainstorm which was raging Thursday night when the occupants retired.

Mr and Mrs. Gabler retired early Thursday evening, and when Mrs. Gilleran passed their door at 9 p. m. she observed, she says, that their lights were out. Dwyer and Hines had already gone to their room and were apparently asleep.

At the City Hospital Hines told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he and Dwyer went early to their room partly on account of the storm and partly because they expected to rise early Friday. Dwyer turned out the gas. The window was closed on account of the rain.

Felt Dizzy When He Awoke.

"Some time during the night I awoke," Hines said, "and found that Dwyer was trembling violently, as though he had a chill. His breath was coming in gasps. I thought he must be ill. I felt a little dizzy myself, but thought I was just sleepy.

"I did not notice any smell of gas, or anything like that. But I felt a little queer, so I just threw all the cover onto Dwyer to keep him warm and went back to sleep. That was all I remembered until the doctors began working on me."

Hines is a teamster 22 years old and unmarried. His parents live at 209A South Leffingwell avenue. A week ago he left home to room with Dwyer, who did the same work as himself and was a friend.

Dwyer did not work Thursday, and he told Mrs. Gilleran he was going out to put his three children, 7, 4 and 2 years old respectively, into a charitable home. He had been living at the house since the death of his wife a month ago. Mrs. Gilleran does not know where the children lived during that time, nor what their names are.

Gabler Was Insured.

Dwyer was 30 years old, and until he moved to the Lawton avenue house lived at Leffingwell avenue and Adams street.

Gabler formerly lived in Harrisburg, Pa. In his dresser was found a letter signed "A. E. and S. E. Gabler," apparently from two brothers or from a brother and his wife, begging Gabler to return to Pennsylvania, where a good position awaited him. This letter is postmarked Orrstown, Pa. Gabler was 35 years old and his wife 27. They had no children.

An insurance policy for $2000 in a fraternal order, made to Mrs. Gabler on Gabler's life, was found in the dresser. Church envelopes for Sunday offerings found with it indicated that Mrs. Gabler was a member of the Fountain Park Congregational Church.

Richard Foley, an employe of the city lighting department of the Laclede Gas Co., visited the house, but was unable to give any explanation of the displacement of the gas cap except that it might have been removed to connect the pipe with the stove, carelessly put back and then knocked off by moving the dresser.

SHOT 50 TIMES AT POSSE, HIT NONE

Suspect, Captured After Desperate Battle, Withholds His Identity.

MOUNT CARMEL, Ill., May 13.—Although he believes he has but a few hours to live, the stranger arrested here Wednesday after a desperate battle with the Sheriff and a posse of citizens, refuses to reveal his identity. The physicians who have been attending him announced today that he has a fair chance to recover, but this fact is being kept from him in the hope that he may yet give his name.

The man aroused the suspicion of the authorities by appearing at the ferry and trying to sell a revolver and several knives at a low price. Sheriff Moore was notified and, with several citizens, accosted the stranger and demanded that he surrender.

Instead, the man ran. The posse pursued, surrounded him in a clump of timber. He then began to fire upon the men, and that some of them were not killed or seriously wounded was due to his poor marksmanship. He fired at least fifty times.

A bullet from the Sheriff's revolver finally brought the desperate man down, and he was taken immediately to the office of a physician. In his possession were found a large number of valuable articles, including jewelry, knives and revolvers.

BOY'S SENTENCE CUT 74 YEARS ON PLEA OF MOTHER TO COURT

John Stapp, Who Killed Mrs. Kraus With Intent to Rob, Finds Aid.

The sentence of John Stapp, the 15-year-old boy, who pleaded guilty to stabbing to death Mrs. Otilie Kraus, wife of a South Broadway grocer, was reduced from 99 years to 25 by Judge George H. Williams of the Juvenile Court Friday. Judge Williams offered no explanation as to why he reduced the sentence. The unusually heavy sentence originally imposed by the court created much comment, and an effort was made by Attorneys Hiram Moore and Harold Johnson to induce Judge Williams to make the punishment less severe.

The boy's mother visited Judge Williams almost every day to plead for leniency. Mrs. Stapp had a final conference with Judge Williams Thursday. The boy was taken into court Friday and Judge Williams merely informed him that his sentence would be reduced to 25 years. Stapp entered the Kraus grocery store a few weeks ago, and asked for 10 cents' worth of cheese. When Mrs. Kraus turned to get it, he sprang upon her with a knife and stabbed her in the back. Mrs. Kraus said before she died that the boy looked in at the window and saw her hide some money, and she thought robbery was his motive.

Not Unexpected.

GAS WELL SHOOTS FLAME 8 FEET

Supply Found at 450 Feet Depth Near Shipman, Ill., by Oil Diggers.

A flow of natural gas was struck Thursday at Shipman, Ill., 20 miles north of Alton, while prospectors were boring for oil.

The prospecting was being done on the farm of M. M. Olmstead and the gas was struck at a depth of 450 feet. The gas burned freely when lighted and the flame shot eight feet above the ground.

There is 60 feet of water in the well and the gas rose through this, showing there was considerable pressure behind it. Every farm in the vicinity is leased for oil privileges and land prices are high. It is thought that natural gas can be found over the whole of Macoupin County.

MOTHERHOOD

MRS. JAMES CHESTER

The first requisite of a good mother is good health, and the experience of maternity should not be approached without careful physical preparation, as a woman who is in good physical condition transmits to her children the blessings of a good constitution.

Preparation for healthy maternity is accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, more successfully than by any other medicine, because it gives tone and strength to the entire feminine organism, and the result is less suffering and more children healthy at birth. For more than thirty years has been the standby of American mothers in preparing for childbirth.

Note what Mrs. James Chester of 427 W. 35th St., New York, says in this letter: Dear Mrs. Pinkham—"I wish every expectant mother knew about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. A neighbor who had learned of its great value at this trying period of a woman's life urged me to try it and I did so, and I cannot say enough in regard to the good it did me. I recovered quickly and am in the best of health now."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is certainly a successful remedy for the ailments of women.

It has cured almost every form of Female Complaints, Weak Back and Organic Diseases of Women and is invaluable in preparing for Childbirth.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female illness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free.

"AM TOO SICK TO COME," HE WIRED FIANCEE

But Army Officer Was Then Enjoying an Automobile Jaunt.

GUESTS HAD ARRIVED

Daughter of a Texas Banker Is Left in the Lurch by Lieutenant.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., May 31.—It has developed that First Lieut. Mack Richardson, Twenty-Sixth U. S. Infantry, recently stationed at Fort Sam Houston, who left with his regiment for the Philippines today, broke his promise to marry Miss Anna Keeley.

Miss Keeley is the daughter of Capt. William Keeley, president of the First National Bank of Brownsville, one of the wealthiest and most respected citizens of Texas. Her engagement to Lieut. Richardson was announced several months ago; their wedding was set for Tuesday evening, May 14, the anniversary of her parents' marriage.

The guests, including several of Lieut. Richardson's fellow-officers, were assembled in Capt. Keeley's residence which was beautifully decorated, the bridal supper spread, the wedding presents were exhibited, when Miss Keeley received a telegram from her recreant fiance:

"Am too sick to come."

Pride Hid Her Sorrow.

Her pride hid her intense sorrow and disappointment; her father's love sustained her. Capt. Keeley announced to the guests that the wedding was postponed because of Lieut. Richardson's sudden illness, and with forced gaiety, invited them to sup with him to celebrate the anniversary of his own marriage.

Lieut. Richardson first met Miss Keeley when he was stationed with his regiment at Fort Brown here. He paid her constant suit and won her love. After the raid on Brownsville, the military post here was abandoned and the Lieutenant was transferred to Fort Sam Houston. He constantly corresponded with Miss Keeley and made her frequent visits.

He told her he would arrive here on Monday, May 13, the day before that fixed for the wedding. He did not come, but that portended nothing. Army officers who had been invited came on the train from Fort Sam Houston. They said Lieut. Richardson went to the depot with them, but at the last moment said he had forgotten something at the post which he must attend to. He checked his trunk to Brownsville on another man's ticket.

Her Father Was Dubious.

Capt. Keeley had less confidence in the lieutenant than had the officer's trusting fiancee. At 3 p. m. Tuesday Capt. Keeley, it is said, wired Col. Leroy Brown, commander of Fort Sam Houston, inquiring if Lieut. Richardson was there. Col. Brown wired a reply that Richardson was on his way to Brownsville. This answer relieved the intense suspense for a time, but at 5 o'clock Miss Keeley got the final message from Richardson. It was dated San Antonio.

Capt. Keeley investigated Lieut. Richardson's alleged illness, and, it is reported, learned that Richardson was automobiling in San Antonio at the time he wired, "Am too sick to come." The lieutenant arrived here May 21, a week too late. He came, report has it, on the advice of some of his superior officers. He sought to communicate with Capt. Keeley, who informed him that he would not see him, and furthermore that Miss Keeley would not listen to any explanation he might have to offer. Capt. Keeley is also reported to have advised Lieut. Richardson over the telephone that he and Miss Keeley would leave next day for Washington and that it would be well for Richardson not to attempt to return to Fort Sam Houston on the same train with them. Lieut. Richardson waited until Thursday morning's train before leaving the city.

Capt. Keeley has been testifying about the Brownsville raid before the Senatorial Committee in Washington.

Freight Investigation Delayed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, May 31.—The investigation by the State Board of Railroad and Warehouse Commissioners in the alleged failure of railroads to interchange freight at Kansas City terminals has been postponed ten days on plea of the railroads. They said that a case covering the same points is now before the Supreme Court and asked delay until a decision was given.

Ring Causes Divorce Suit.

A ring belonging to another woman, which her husband persisted in wearing, destroyed the happiness of Mrs. Josie Hartmann, according to her divorce petition, filed Friday. She says: "We at the ring gave her the first hint that the other woman was in the thoughts of her husband, Ernst Hartmann, and that later, while she was ill, Hartmann called on the owner of the ring."

BAD FOOD DRIVES 14 SANE MEN FROM MADHOUSE

Object Also to Eating With Inmates, but Their Places Are Soon Filled, According to the Superintendent.

Superintendent Atkins of the Insane Asylum says the places of 14 employes whose resignations are effective tomorrow night have been filled. He denies that they quit because of poor table fare.

The list of employes who resigned includes the electrician, chief engineer, night engineer, day assistant, the chef and four assistant cooks and several attendants.

Chester J. Schmidt, who has been electrician at the Asylum for nearly four years, says most of the employes are leaving because they had to eat with patients and the food was inferior. He says the soup was gruel and the coffee too thin.

Supt. Atkins declares that no city institution sets a better table. He says the only one who ever objected to the menu was the chief engineer, who wanted more chicken and other delicacies. Supt. Atkins says every one of the employes who resigned gave other reasons for doing so.

Electrician Schmidt and Chief Engineer Faubl, when called before the superintendent, denied having stated that they were leaving because of objections to table fare, according to Supt. Atkins.

PENNILESS, THEY ELOPE ON FOOT

Illinois Woman Leaves Home and Children for Love of a Waiter.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BEARDSTOWN, Ill., May 31.—Detectives have started in pursuit of Edward, alias "Cotton," Clark, and Mrs. Elva Mohlmann, who eloped from this city Wednesday, and, as the couple had no money, it believed they will soon be overtaken.

They left on foot and it is known that Clark has not enough money to buy railroad tickets. He was a waiter in a hotel here, and, it is said, spent his wages as fast as he was paid.

Before leaving with Clark, Mrs. Mohlmann took her four children to Whitehall and placed them in the Orphans' Home there. Her husband, W. H. Mohlmann, was downtown attending to his daily duties, and had never suspected that his wife was in love with the waiter.

Mohlmann has provided well for his family, and Mrs. Mohlmann was respected by her neighbors. None knew of the clandestine courtship of her and the waiter.

Mohlmann will bring his children home today. He says he will prosecute the couple if they are found. It has developed that his wife was often melancholy and had threatened to commit suicide, but Mohlmann never knew the cause until after she had gone.

OPPOSES PAID PRESS AGENT FOR HOBOS AND THEN QUITS

Dr. Green Resigns From Brotherhood Welfare Association After Debate.

Alleging that he was insulted when he opposed a proposition to pay a salary to a press agent for hobos, the Rev. George B. Green has broken with the Brotherhood Welfare Association. When Dr. Green said that a press agent should not receive a salary there was a warm debate at Tuesday night's meeting of the association. Dr. Green was reminded that ministers accept salaries, and he was told that the association would not be dictated to by clerkymen.

BELIEVES SHE SAW BERGMANN

Woman Thinks Man Who Killed His Aunt Called at Her Home.

Mrs. Flora M. Cotton thinks that Edward Bergmann, who murdered his aunt, Mrs. Kate Quernheim March 7, called at her house, 426 West Davis street and asked for coffee Friday. She saw Bergmann when he was 12 years old and she says her visitor looked like him.

The stranger visited several other houses in the neighborhood. On Mrs. Cotton's description a man was arrested, but he was released when Mrs. Cotton said that he was not the man who called at her home.

"I guess he is," replied Farmer Kornkob. "He knows four different almanacs by heart."

WANTS $30,000 FOR SLANDER

Mrs. O'Hara Says Realty Man Advised Husband to Get a Divorce.

Mrs. Louisa O'Hara of Webster Groves testified in the Clayton Circuit Court Friday that Joseph Trembley, attorney and wealthy real estate handler, "talked about" her to her husband in such loud tones that others in the house and persons on the sidewalk heard his remarks.

She is suing Trembley for $30,000 damages, two-thirds actual and one-third punitive, and her petition charges that he counseled her husband—John O'Hara—to obtain a divorce.

Her testimony, the first given in the hearing before Judge McElhinney, was that in May, 1906, O'Hara told her that he was in debt. Soon after, she said, Trembley made several visits to their home, and urged that the property, valued at $8000, be transferred to himself as trustee.

"I didn't take up with this plan," she testified, "and after that Trembley began to talk to my husband about me. My husband and I never had trouble before.

"I told my husband that if the property had to be made over to a trustee, I didn't see why it shouldn't be made over to me instead of deeding it to anyone outside the family.

"Then Trembley set about to persuade my husband that I was not to be trusted with the property.

"On June 13 last he came to our house and talked so loudly that others in the house and passers-by heard him. He told my husband that I had been guilty of conduct for which divorce is obtainable, and told him he ought to get a divorce, and that, anyway, he ought not to think of deeding the property to me.

"His talk upset me so that I was sick and unable to do my work for several days."

10 PERSONS LOSE LEGS IN COLLISION

Seven of Them Die After Accident on Trolley Line Near Cleveland, O.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

ELYRIA, O., May 31.—One of the most peculiar accidents, in its results, that has happened in recent years occurred near here last night. A Cleveland and a Southwestern trolley car filled with holiday passengers and running from Wellington to Cleveland, was struck by another car at Sixth street and Middle avenue. Five of the injured are expected to die.

The dead:

E. O. Donnell, Elyria, crockery merchant; he had both legs cut off.

The Taft bad cold is not so bad as the Foraker chill.

Railroad earnings continue to increase. With more cars they would be still larger.

The great Japanese General was so shocked in Chicago that he didn't want to visit any more big American cities.

THE NEW PRIMARY LAW.

Representative Millard of the Sixth Legislative District of this city calls attention, in a letter to the Post-Dispatch, to the apparent fault in the new primary election law.

Mr. Millard's point is that under the provisions of this law cities having only one central committee for each party lack the machinery to obtain representation in the State party convention. In the city of St. Louis, for instance, there are two and a half congressional districts, but no ward committees. However, section 28 of the new law provides that in cities which are divided into wards for election purposes, when the word "county" is used it shall apply to such committes by wards. The provisions of the law can therefore be met if, instead of having one Central City Committee, with a representative from each ward, the city parties shall elect ward committees, the chairmen of which should be members of the City Central Committee. This will require a reorganization of the parties, with ward committees organized as county committees are now organized.

The one point in the law which seems to have been overlooked, is its centralizing of power in the hands of party committeemen. The whole party organization, up to the State convention, is built upon the ward or county committee. The delegates from the congressional districts are named by the congressional committees which have been named by the lesser committees. The State conventions, therefore, will be composed of the nominees of the party committees meeting in conjunction with the nominees for State officers, congressmen, State senators and representatives, the only direct representatives of the people at these conventions being the candidates nominated at the primaries.

In the operation of a law of this kind, the duty of the voters to take part in the State primaries and to see that representative committeemen are chosen will be imperative. If the voters in the cities permit the ward politicians to select and elect the ward committees, they will be represented by their worst elements at the State convention. There is danger that the practical effect of the law will be to strengthen the party organizations and hence the political rings which are always seeking to control them. Perhaps this accounts for the law in its present form. The party managers expect the people to be asleep on primary election day.

Comptroller Player treats the suggestion of a popular issue of free bridge bonds with contempt, yet a popular bond issue once saved the United States Government from the strangle hold of a greedy bond syndicate.

WHAT KUROKI MISSED.

Gen. Kuroki was too busy visiting Chicago a second time to run down to St. Louis. Notwithstanding we have always crowded the Japanese auctions and took the roof off our museum to admit the duplicate of the Gate of Tokio, Kuroki declined, with the usual courtesies.

The General missed it. He could have interested them at home with what he saw of the device employed by our Smoke Inspector to keep the whole community from getting freckled. He might have comforted his 30,000,000 countrymen on the little Isle of Nippon, who think they are crowded, with tales of what he witnessed upon St. Louis street cars. He would have found the Mikado eager to hear more of our great local potentate—Bashi-Bazouk Beggs. He might have fascinated the ladies at court with telling how the winners in prize beauty contests float around in bevies upon our streets.

The obstinacy with which Kuroki overlooked these fancy bets rather strengthens the theory that he didn't see the opportunity to divide Kuropatkin's army at Mukden, but simply blundered into that brilliant feat of arms.

Probably the Chicagoese took care not to tell Kuroki about Mayor Busse's bed-slat corrective.

HUMANIZING CONVICTS.

Under the constitution of the United States, there can still be "involuntary servitude for crime" in any State of the Union, but servitude forced as a penalty for crime does not necessarily mean slavery.

Whether the earnings of forced labor go to a private master or to the public, regardless of the rights of the dependents of the laborer to rely on him for support, we have still a definition of slavery as it is distinct from "servitude."

It is to be hoped that Mr. James Eads How is right in concluding that in the St. Louis Workhouse a distinction will soon be made by the city, under which the servitude it is necessary to force on those who violate the laws and ordinances, will not be slavery.

Even if the first experiment in humanizing Workhouse convicts by holding them still responsible as workers for their families, is a clumsy one and a partial failure, it will be a step towards final success in a great reform which will begin at the roots by treating convicts as men, with moral responsibilities unchanged by conviction.

In his address to the millers Secretary Taft kept as far away from the Presidential question as possible. He ranged through the provinces and his theme may be designated as the reconciliation of High Moral Ideas with Imperialism.

ABOLISHING THE STATES.

Today I wish to say a word to you about the first and most important feature of this task, the control of common carriers doing an interestate business; a control absolutely vested in the nation, while in so far as the common carriers also transport the mails it is in my opinion probable that whether their business is or not interstate it is to some extent subject to Federal control under that clause of the constitution granting to the National Government power to establish postroads, and therefore, by necessity implication, power to take all action necessary in order to keep them at the highest point of efficiency.—From President Roosevelt's address at Indianapolis.

This is the most radical, far-reaching claim of Federal power advanced by any President of the United States. "We seek nothing revolutionary," says Mr. Roosevelt, the while he proceeds to elaborate the most revolutionary proposition ever put forward by a chief executive of a nation.

If his contention be admitted, no city can control its own public streets. These thoroughfares are used by mail carriers and mail wagons, and the power of regulation rests in the Congress of the United States. No State can control its own wagon roads if these roads are used by rural free delivery carriers. No city can regulate its own traction companies. These companies, in many cities, carry United States mail. Where they do not, all that is necessary to take them out of the hands of the local authorities and put them in the hands of the Federal Government is a petty mail contract, executed between the corporation and the Postoffice Department. Likewise, no State can regulate its own electric or steam railroads, for they, too, carry mail, and Congress has power to "take all action necessary in order to keep them at the highest point of efficiency."

Under the constitution as interpreted by Mr. Roosevelt, the public utilities bill is a piece of State impertinence which usurps the functions of the National Government.

It is for Congress to prescribe the terms and conditions under which street cars shall be operated upon the public streets, provided the companies transport the mails.

It is to be taken for granted that Mr. Roosevelt does not dream of such an extension of the Federal power, but where does he propose to draw the line? Once the claim is admitted that Congress, under the power to establish post roads, can regulate commerce and common carriers within a State, then the states are at once stripped of authority over their own roads and streets.

This is an immeasurably greater power than the President demands, even when he insists that Federal Government shall exercise as complete supervision over railroads as over national banks, for the Federal Government, in controlling national banks, does not undertake to control state banks, savings banks, private banks or trust companies.

If Mr. Roosevelt's interpretation of the Constitution be correct, then the states are indeed lagging superfluous on the scene. Their mission is ended, and the sooner they go out of business the better. But is the constitution of Theodore Roosevelt the constitution as known and interpreted by the Supreme Court of the United States?

With all the money for State automobile licenses going into the good roads fund, the Missouri farmer may grow a more kindly feeling for the skidoos.

THE BARRINGTON CASE.

Letters to the Post-Dispatch indicate that there is some confusion in the minds of humanely disposed persons with regard to the Barrington case. Accepting Barrington's plea for justice, with his plausible suggestions of his inability as a moneyless foreigner to get the full benefit of the legal safeguards thrown around persons accused of crime, the letter writers urge public support for further investigation and action in Barrington's behalf.

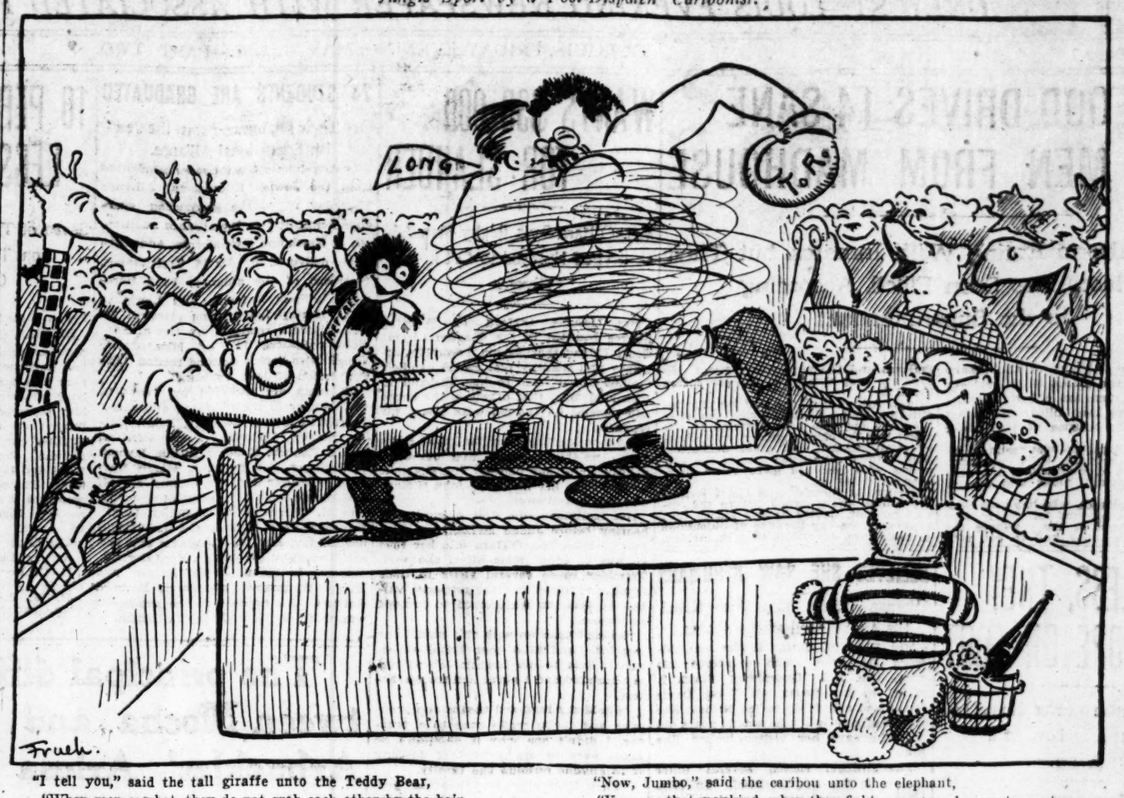
Barrington is forced to plead for justice to avoid the admission of guilt which would be involved in a plea for mercy. He shrewdly charges a failure of justice in order to put into the public mind a doubt concerning the fairness of the processes by which he has been brought to a final sentence of death. In reality, his plea is for mercy. Every means available to prevent an unjust conclusion in the Barrington case has been resorted to by his attorneys. He was pronounced guilty on the presentation of the facts in the case by a jury. His conviction was affirmed by the Supreme Court of the State of Missouri. After a judicial investigation, the Supreme Court of the United States declined to interfere with the sentence. The fact that Barrington is a foreigner has been advantageous to him, in that it has given him resources which a citizen of Missouri would not have, and has interested in his behalf representatives in this country of Great Britain, who have supplied funds to assure him a fair opportunity to obtain justice. If any injustice has been done him, it is because the processes of the law and the courts do not accomplish the ends of justice. Barrington was convicted March 5, 1904, and after more than three years he is still alive, crying to be saved from punishment. If there is any scandal in the Barrington case, it is the long delay of justice.

The crime for which Barrington was convicted ought not to be lost sight of. According to the evidence, it combined murder with the basest treachery. If any murderer should be given the full penalty of the law, it is the murderer of McCann, and after all the resources of law have been exhausted, the brand of guilt still rests on Barrington.

When the perfected submarine gets to the enormously costly battleship, what will happen to that investment?

FIGHT! FIGHT!

Jungle Sport by a Post-Dispatch Cartoonist.



"I tell you," said the tall giraffe unto the Teddy Bear,
"When men combat, they do not grab each other by the hair.
You say they do so in your book. Now, smarty, will you take a look."

"Now, Jumbo," said the caribou unto the elephant,
"You say that mankind, when they fight, are never known to pant.
Just listen, will you, unto these. Jehosaphat, but how they wheeze!"

JUST A MINUTE

WITH POST-DISPATCH POETS AND HUMORISTS

RHAPSODY.

O, hallowed place where I was born
And rashly left, alack,
I fancy they are planting corn
Across the field and back,
And I can hear at early morn
The dropper's measured clack.

O, dear remembered monotone,
An exile I, forlorn,
But where the waving fields are blown
My spirit swift is borne,
And I can hear the dulcet drone
Of the mellow dinner horn.

O, green and everlasting hills,
Life's work is far away,
But I can feel the peace that fills
The heart at end of day,
And I can hear the whippoorwills
At even roundelay.

O, sweet and unforgotten youth,
A song I sing to thee,
A song among the walls, forsooth,
A country rhapsody,
I loved thee well, and that's the truth
Within the heart of me.

SUCH IS FAME.

An American bill for the restriction of motoring in the State of Illinois which was passed recently by the State Legislature at Springfield has been attacked bitterly by motorists and their friends.

The measure has been covered with ridicule by the introduction of a series of burlesque amendments by Mr. John R. Robinson, a farmer, who is considered the humorist of the Legislature. They include the following:

1. In case a farmer's horse will not pass a motor car, the chauffeur will take the car apart and conceal the parts in the nearest field.

2. In approaching curves a man must go ahead, sounding a horn at intervals of 15 seconds.

3. Speed on country roads to be limited to 10 miles an hour unless the chauffeur encounters a deputy sheriff who does not appear to have had a drink for 30 days.

4. When a farmer's rig is sighted coming in the opposite direction the chauffeur will stop the car half a mile distant and approach with cigars, a bottle of spirits and a white flag. In case the driver of the cart will not permit the motor car to pass, the chauffeur is to come forward with presents for the farmer's wife and children. If this does not avail, the chauffeur is to kill as much of the contents of the wagon as is consistent with the horsepower of his machine.

5. All touring cars must change color with vegetation, according to the season, in order to be rendered as inconspicuous as possible. Carts to be green in the spring, the color of golden wheat in June, dust color in July and August, red in October, yellow in November and white in December.

The amendments were actually carried amid roars of laughter, but were afterward canceled.—London Express.

How do they do it? Mr. Robinson cuts these rules out of this column and makes an international reputation as a humorist; while the poor devil who wrote them languishes in the very pittomless bot of obscurity.

REMINISCENT.

Ex-President Roosevelt and ex-President Taft were talking over old times.

"I don't think you made your Administrations as interesting as I made mine, Will," Mr. Roosevelt said.

"No," Mr. Taft answered, "I should have tried harder to get Loeb."

COMPARATIVELY NEW.

"How long has Mr. Westend had his automobile?"

"Just got it, I suppose. I haven't seen anything in the papers about him being fined."

COLLAPSED.

"I want to go into bankruptcy," said the merchant, walking in on his lawyer.

"What's the matter; been fooling with the market?"

"Yes, I cornered straw hats."

BEAUTY WINS OVER BRAINS.

Helen Oldfield, the Chicago Heart Expert, Says Pretty Girls Get Wise Lovers.

From the Chicago Tribune.

UNQUESTIONABLY most men prefer beauty to brains, pretty women to clever ones, when it comes to the matter of personal taste. Of course, no man would admit himself willing to marry an absolute fool merely because she had a pretty face; in theory, oh, no! But if the little fool, in addition to being a beauty, is smiling, clinging and withal appealing of manner, she is precisely the woman whom most men, however clever, even brilliant, choose eagerly and avidly as a sweetheart.

Helen Mathers, the popular English novelist and writer of love stories, essays, etc., says: "Frankly, if a woman is extremely good looking, good humored and dainty, her brains entirely subordinated to his pleasure and comfort, man graciously will forgive her for being clever; not unless." Which is putting it strongly, even for Englishmen, much more for Americans; yet the statement has a sound substratum of truth.

As a rule a man desires that his wife shall be just clever enough to understand his cleverness and just stupid enough to admire it.

The fact that so many great men marry apparently commonplace women possibly may be explained by the other fact that a really strong man of strong body, strong brain and strong will does not demand brains in others. The woman whom he likes is she who rests and soothes him; he takes women as a relaxation, an amusement, not as an intellectual exercise, and prefers a pretty fool to a woman of genius, when it comes to choosing a wife.

Nevertheless, everything, even folly, is alone the better for the use of brains.

The men who affect silliness in a sweetheart strongly object to it in a wife. As some one has said, they choose a canary bird and expect it to supply hen's eggs for the table.

Few men, especially before marriage, realize the fact, stubborn though it be, that the lack of brains is a positive, not a negative quality. It is not the mere being without—a vacuum which may be filled to order and to taste. There is no human being so obstinate, so wholly unmanageable, as a fool.

You cannot appeal to reason where there is none, nor rely upon good sense which does not exist.

People who are stupid are not merely not clever; stupidity is by far more likely to be aggressive than passive.

The woman who is silly, instead of being silent, says foolish things; instead of having no ideas, she has perverse, irritating ones; instead of being merely uncompanionable, she is a constant annoyance.

Lack of intelligence does not make people passive, much less submissive and biddable; the prejudices of the stupid are colossal, and it is impossible to overcome them.

BLESSED ASSURANCE

By Clark McAdams.

("It will never be dull at Washington while Mr. Roosevelt is President."—Secretary Taft.)

It will never be dull—thank Heaven for that—
So long as our Teddy remains at the bat—
There will always be some blooming sort of a spat.

It will never be dead as it was in the old
Wearisome days before Teddy took hold
And rescued the office from rust and from mould.

It will never be quiet while Teddy shall reign—
Be sure of a riot again and again
And a regular diet of quarrel and strain.

We shall never have reason to sigh and to yawn
So long as the mighty enlivener's on
The job with his candid opinion anon.

We shall never grow prosy, nor wanting for theme
So long as the sturdy Rough Rider's supreme—
Which is why we should see that he stays there, 'twould seem.

STRANGEST OF INVENTIONS

A SCIENTIST has invented an automatic mechanism for preventing collisions at sea, based upon the use of Hertzian waves. Miniature wireless telegraphy plants are to be installed on vessels, ffective within a thousand yards radius. Two vessels fitted with t his apparatus approaching each other in a fog and with the mechanism set would, at 1000 yards, give mutual and automatic warning by acting upon each other's signal, which would in its turn automatically stop the engines.

THIS DRESS TOOK SIX YEARS TO MAKE.

SIX years, 540 yards of duchess silk lace, 400 yards of silk thread and an infinite amount of patience were consumed by Miss Amelia M. Redel of Marshalltown, Ia., in making a black lace dress. Miss Redel conceived the idea of a hand-made lace dress six years ago, and immediately set to work to carry out that idea. She has just finished her task. The waist and skirt each are in one piece. The design was worked out over a foundation of carubric.

What Are Spirits?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Father George Searle, member of the Psychical Research Society, has just declared it probable that, as a rule, the spirits communicating are either devils or lost human souls, subject to devils in hell. On the other hand a learned scientist has just shown the people of St. Louis that all the so-called spirit phenomena are merely telepathy and the subjective mind. With all respect to these high authorities I can't help feeling just a little like laughing.

SOCRATES MUNSON.

No "Farmers Trust" Intended.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Some will have it that the farmers will never stick together and that never in all history since Moses, the son of Amram has such a result been attainable. In the next breath we hear from others the opposite, viz., that farmers are organizing a gigantic trust and that it will be most successful as well as the most oppressive in all the land. Evidently there is a contradiction here, or perhaps a misconception of what a trust really is. The principle of the trust is to stifle, check competition, to fix the price in what others have to sell or to wholly frustrate their selling at any price by closing the market to their product, tying up or rendering discriminatory or prohibitive to rivals the means of transportation, etc. No such purpose is possible to contemplation by the American Society of Equity. Such a purpose would not be equity, but the rankest inequity. At the Omaha Grain Growers' Convention next week the society will simply insist upon the right to name the price others shall pay for the producers' grain; certainly that is a correct principle and cannot be gainsaid. The producer certainly has a right to put the price upon what he produces. Especially since it must be remembered, too, that that price thus put upon what he actually produces is a minimum, equitable price, and that minimum based not upon the manipulation of the wheat pit gambler or upon a hold-up, but upon the cost of production. This, too, is an axiomatic economic truth. Besides, somebody is going to fix the prices on wheat and farm products. If the men who farm the farms do not do this the people who farm the farmers will certainly do it. "Supply and demand" is an old saw and farmers can take a hand at using it to work for once in their favor. They simply propose to regulate that supply to the market demand after they fix their price. The speculator can do so, why not the one who has a more direct right, the producer? Give the producer "dollar wheat"; that is an equitable price. His purchasing power is increased; that means more clothing, more supplies, more buildings, more hardware, more machinery, more prosperity all-round for everybody. A movement is thus inaugurated the very reverse of the trust, which is restraint and not development of trade for all.

Warning to Dunne.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The report that our Excise Commissioner is shocked by Mayor Busse's failure to clap "the lid" onto the Chicago saloons on Sunday, is a severe shock to all sympathising citizens. It is hoped, however, that the Commissioner will recover sufficiently to write and personally assure Mayor Busse of the extent of the shock. This may cause him to halt in his mad career, but if not, a second letter should be sent, warning him that unless he ceases to shock the Commissioner in manner aforesaid, in the logical sequence of human events he will ere long be a fugitive from the wrath to come.

LUCULLUS.

The Barrington Case.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

This Barrington case, I am sure, is thoroughly familiar to the large majority of the citizens of St. Louis and vicinity. Laying aside all questions of the possible guilt or innocence of the prisoner; disabusing our minds of all that has been said or written for or against him since the crime was committed, and, taking a perfectly common sense view of the case as it now presents itself, I believe there is not one man in fifty who feels that Barrington has received the consideration he is entitled to. His appeal, coming as it does from a foreign subject cannot fail to fall upon interested hearers, and the very fact that he asks not for clemency or freedom, but for justice, should make it the more reasonable. We boast of the high standard of our judicial system in America, but let us proceed cautiously in this case lest perhaps we shall cast a blot upon the fair name of the judicial system of Missouri. With the State Supreme Court divided upon the legal phase of the case and the strong dissenting opinions of two of our learned Judges, I think the State of Missouri, the prosecutor in the case, should lend an ear to the cry of him who pleads for justice only.

COL. TODHUNTER

He Bewails the Ominous Spectacle of Secretary Taft Swallowing a Doctor's Mess to Clear His Throat for Oratory.

Reported for the Post-Dispatch
By Ripley D. Saunders.

"WELL, suh," remarked Col. Thurs. T. Todhunter solicitously. "I don't know what that there St. Louis doctor gave Secretary of War Taft to 'relieve his hoarseness' for an hour, so he could make a speech, but I'll be dadblamed if I couldn't have wiped them cobwebs out of his throat without any such monkey-business, suh. And I'd a-done it gladly, too, suh, even though he is a Republican and my political enemy, suh.

"I tell you, suh, it's an ominous thing for the future of this great, free and indivisible republic when American orators go hot-footin' it to a doctor just because their speakin'-tubes happen to be a little out of gear, and that's why I hated to see Mr. Taft doin' such an unpatriotic act, suh. Taft don't strike me as bein' a mollycoddle, suh, but I'll be dadfrazzled if he didn't come mighty nigh gettin' into that class when he went to a doctor and got some sort of a drug-decoction to wet his whistle for eloquence, suh.

"Do you suppose for a minnit, suh, that old Harry Clay or Dan'l Webster or any of them immortal spellbinders of our glorious past would a-done such a thing, suh? Never, suh—they'd a died fust! They knew what to do in such an emergency, better'n any doctor could tell 'em—and every fiber in the sturdy American grain of their beings, suh, would have risen in protest against swallowin' a doctor's prescription of squills or some other such baby-food physic as long as they knew there was a drop of good old Bourbon or rye or Jamaica rum or apple brandy left in this vale of tears, suh. And they'd a-cured themselves before they stopped, suh, no matter how much they had to take endurin' of the operation, suh—it was the good old American way, suh.

"Wherefore I come dog-goned nigh bustin' into tears when I thought of that there doctor lookin' down an American Secretary of War's throat and then makin' chicken-tracks tellin' some fool druggist how to mix up a mess for him to gulp down before he could make a speech, suh. It looked like the wrack of fortunes and the crash of worlds as far as the future destinies of this country of our'n is concerned, suh.

"And I ain't got over the shock of it yet, suh."

STAR DOLLARS.

Once upon a time there was a little Girl whose father and mother were dead; and she became so poor that shehad no roof to shelter herself under, and no bed to sleep in; and at last she had nothing left but the clothes on her back, and a loaf of bread in her hand, which a compassionate body had given to her. But she was a good and pious little Girl, and when she found herself forsaken by all the world, she went out into the fields trusting on God. Soon she met a poor Man, who said to her, "Give me something to eat, for I am so hungry." She handed him the whole loaf; and, with a "God bless you!" walked on further. Next she met a little Girl crying very much, and said to her, "Pray give me something to cover my head with, for it is locomotor ataxia consisting of the muscles of the spine thus produced works through the education of the them to their

THE NEW PRIMARY LAW

Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Permit me to call your attention to the following provision made in the new primary law for holding an election in the city of St. Louis. Under this law in section 28, which provides for a direct primary to be held on the first Tuesday in August, there is provision made for selecting one committeeman from each ward in the city, and one for each county township, and then there is provision made for these committeemen to organize by electing chairmen of the county committees, who shall meet and select two delegates for each congressional district, who together with the candidates nominated at the primary are to meet at Jefferson City on the second Tuesday following the first, and they in convention are to elect a State Committee, who, after their election, are to meet and elect a chairman, secretary and treasurer, after which the candidates nominated, together with the State Committee and the two delegates from each congressional district of the State, are to meet and formulate a party platform which shall be promulgated before 6 o'clock on that same day.

It will be observed by reference to the section referred to in the law that as we have but one City Committee for each political party in the city and have three congressional districts in the city that we will not have several county chairmen to constitute the Congressional Committee, who are to select the two delegates from each congressional district, who are to participate in the election of a State Committee, hence the city, under the law, will have no representation at the convention that is to elect the State Committee and formulate the party platform. It is evident that this law was drafted by country members of the Legislature, who were not familiar with the organization of our city political system and consequently did not make adequate provision for it in this law. As it is we cannot hold an election and conform strictly to the requirement of the law; we can, however, nominate our candidates under it and then in an arbitrary way select our delegates to the convention which is to elect our State Committee and formulate our party platform, but this will have to be agreed upon and provided for outside of this new primary law.

Section 33b provides for calling a convention to select delegates to the national convention and electing a national committeeman and performing such other acts as may be necessary for national party purposes, providing however, that said acts do not conflict with or are not inconsistent with this law.

It is plain that we have in this new law some very serious complications that will require the attention of our worthy election commissioners to adjust.

No Cork Legs.

From the Minneapolis Journal.

"A cork leg?" said the dealer. "Why, man, a cork leg would crumble under you like a leg of bread. You don't want a cork leg, but an elm or willow one."

"I thought the best ones were cork—the lightest, you know."

"No, indeed. A leg was never made of cork since the world's beginning. But many men think as you do, and I'll tell you how the fallacy originated. The inventor of the modern artificial leg—the leg instead of the stick—was John Cork. Cork's legs, cork legs, were famous around 1810. And whenever a man makes your mistake he pays an unconscious tribute to Cork's skill."

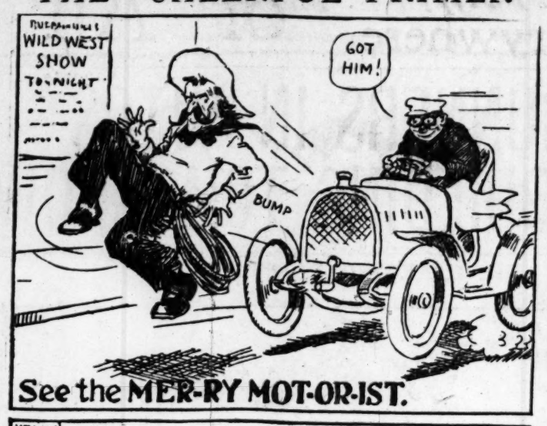
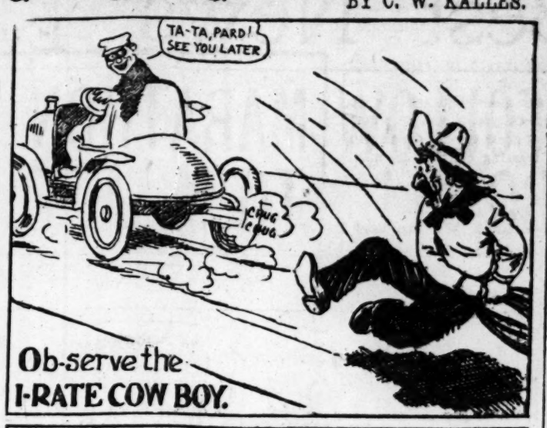
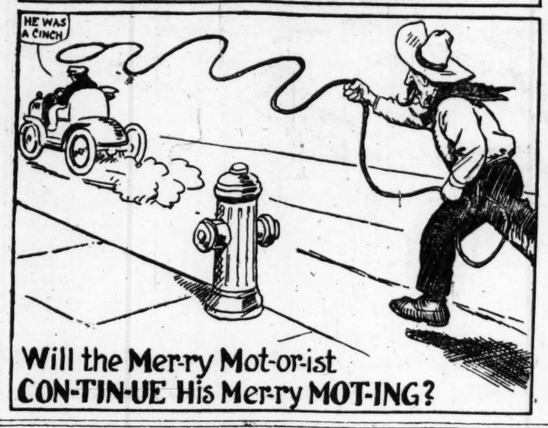
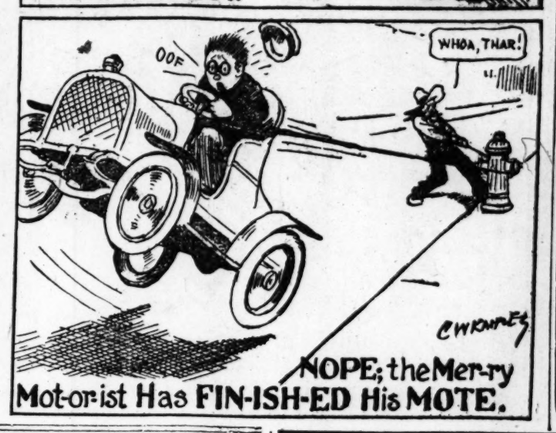
THE CHEERFUL PRIMER

Drawn for Post-Dispatch BY C. W. KALLES.









THE APT PUPIL.

From Life.

THE philanthropic Fifth avenue lady was visiting a lower East Side Sunday school. To test the aptness of a particularly indigent cluster of pupils she took the class in hand to question them.

"Children, which is the greatest of all virtues?"

Not one answered.

"Think a little. What is it I am doing when I give up time and pleasure to come down among you for your moral good?"

A grimy fist went up.

"Well, what am I doing, little boy?"

"Buttin' in!"

Qualifications of a Juryman.

Several hundred men had been excused, and the panel was still lacking one of the required number.

"Hans Peterson,' called the clerk, wearily.

Hans stood up.

"Shudge?"

"Well?" in a tone that boded ill for Hans.

"Shudge, Your Honor, I do not speak English very goot."

"You don't need to,' answered the Judge.

"But, Shudge, Your Honor, I cannot read the English print vell."

"Not necessary." The Judge's voice was stern.

"If Your Honor please, listen but for a moment. I do not understand the learned lawyers very well."

"You don't have to," answered the Judge, evidently nettled by Hans' persistence. "No one else understands them, either. Sit down."

In Old Kentucky.

From Life.

"I hear Col. Bourbon's left arm was cut off in the railway accident."

"Yes, sur, a most unfawtunate occurrence, but fawtunately his drinking arm was entirely uninjured."

The Cause of It.

From the Milwaukee Sentinel.

The stranger in the city's gates paused before the howling mob of strikers.

"What is the strike about, anyway?" he asked.

"Surplus in the treasury and we had to use it up," they replied.

Dodging a brick, he continued faring.

A Nightmare.

From the Chicago News.

The hydrosaurian soared aloft
On pterodactyl wings;
The telerpetor climbed a tree,
And a nylgau did queer things.
The mollusks occupied the land,
The vertebrates the sea—
Wow! I guess that lobster salad
Was too succulent for me.

No Fears.

From the Chicago Post.

"Aren't you ashamed of yourself?" asks the insistent reformer. "Here you are day in and day out in a state of intoxication. You know what such dissipation leads to. Already you show the symptoms of a man who is on the verge of delirium tremens. And I understand that some weak girl is foolish enough to have accepted your proposal of matrimony. I shudder for her and for you!"

"Nev' min', ol' fel'," replies the hopeless case. "Zhe lady I'm go' to marry ish shnake charmer in shide show."

SIX WAYS TO MAKE A MAN CARE FOR A WOMAN.

By MARGARET ROHE.

NO. 2—SHOW HIM HOW OTHERS INDULGE YOUR EXPENSIVE TASTES.

IF HE happens to be not rich, make a point of speaking of the handsome presents, elaborate dinners, electric cab rides and the like with which your other men friends are accustomed to indulge you.

If you have a date with him in the evening, casually mention the fact that you have been for a drive all afternoon with "your millionaire," and he must excuse you if you seem a trifle tired and distrait. Of course, he will be only too happy to do this, and will be beamingly interested if you spend the rest of the evening giving the details of your "lovely drive" and glowing personal accounts of "your millionaire's" generous qualities.

Dangle bracelets and such like jewels in his face, even if you have to appropriate all the family jewels or go out and borrow from the neighbors.

Always have something new to show him in the jewelry line, and greet him with such airy remarks as "Isn't this a pretty thing that Mr. Coyne insisted on my accepting this afternoon?" or "You must see this artistic little brooch that Mr. Banks has sent around. Isn't it just too dear?"

This course will teach him that you must be properly adorned and may lead him to loosen up.

If he is in a position of trust it will be easy enough for him to get the money—though he should be warned against letting his employer discover his defalcations, as such a discovery is not infrequently attended by distressing consequences.

Fine Discrimination.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

The most popular man in a Nevada town got into difficulty with a disreputable tough—for a long time the terror of the place—and proceeded to "do him up" in a manner entirely satisfactory to the community at large. It becoming necessary, however, to vindicate the majesty of the law, the offender was brought up for trial on the charge of assault with intent to kill. When the jury had been out about two minutes they returned.

"Well, gentlemen of the jury," asked the Judge in a familiar, offhand way, "what have you to say?"

"If it please the court," responded the foreman, "we, the jury, find that the prisoner is not guilty of strikin' with intent to kill, but simply to paralyze; an' he done it."

WEATHER conditions will not interfere with the Marathon race, the long distance event of the Western year, which is to be run tomorrow. In fact, so independent of the weather man will be the running of the race that even rain will not stop the hundreds of enthusiasts who will follow the runners in automobiles.

From all indications, the automobile contingent will be one of the big features of the race. More than a hundred machines will cover the Marathon course, while many more will take up stands at various stages along the road and then fall in as the last footer has passed. In this way the finish at the Missouri Athletic Club will be not only a procession of runners, but automobiles also.

The first 15 miles of the course are over a plank road, so that "going" conditions will remain practically the same rain or shine, for this stage. The other stretches have been chosen so as to afford the best footing and it was declared this morning by several automobile friends of one of the entrants after a trip over the course that the condition of the road so far would not prove a serious handicap.

In fact, the ran has its good features, for indications are for what the runners have been sincerely hoping—cool weather. With a cool day tomorrow like today, it is expected that the race will be much more spirited than on a sultry day, when the question of endurance would become much more dominant than speed.

THE chief subject of conversation at the Missouri A. C. is the race. Considerable interest is being manifested in the result, because it will be a contest of speed and endurance, between some of the best long-distance runners in the country. The distance of the race is 40 kilometers, or about "It consists miles. but Chicago will have a representation of seven athletes from various athletic organizations, and a determined effort will be made to take the first prize back to the Windy City.

Thomas Longboat, the famous Canadian Indian, who broke the world's record for the distance in the Boston Marathon, April 19, will not be present, and this will be a source of general regret.

THE Marathon has become a recognized event in the athletic world, and distance runners in the Middle West have gained a wide reputation for their ability at this particular branch of sport.

Beautiful trophies will be given to the first eight men who finish, and the next ten will be handed souvenirs emblematic of the race.

First prize, given by the Missouri Athletic Club; second prize, Mermod, Jaccard & King; third prize, Board of Governors of the M. A. C.; fourth prize, Missouri Athletic Club; fifth prize, Boatmen's Bank, through E. M. Hubbard; sixth prize, Horace Rumsey; seventh prize, R. C. King; eighth prize, Walter E. Fritsch.

Promptly at 12 o'clock the men will start on their long journey from Freeburg, Ill., to Fourth street and Washington avenue, St. Louis.

THE course will be from Freeburg along the Freeburg plank road by Wilderman, and through the main street of Belleville, then to Gartside, Harmony, Edgemont, East St. Louis and over the Eads Bridge to the Missouri Athletic Club building. It is expected that, if weather conditions are favorable, the winner will reach the M. A. C. between 2:45 and 3 o'clock.

Special telephone booths have been installed at Belleville, Priester's Grove, Edgemont and the car barns at East St. Louis, so that the progress of the race may be reported to the hundreds of members of the M. A. C. who will be at the club for that purpose.

The Athletic Committee has perfected arrangements by which the course will be cleared and assistance rendered in case of accidents.

CHICAGO will be represented by the following: S. H. Hatch of the River Forest A. C., Rudolph Zelle Jr., unattached; Henry Berger of Armour Square Gymnasium, Alexander Thiebeau, First Regiment A. C.; John Anderson, Viking A. C.; Raymond B. Anderson, Rushmore A. C., and John A. Feltes, C. A. A.

Clarence Horn, unattached, and William M. Campbell, West Side A. C., will carry the colors of Belleville in the race.

The city of St. Louis will be represented by Joseph Forshaw, M. A. C.; Don J. Weir, M. A. C.; Walter Zeigler, M. A. C.; McRae Smith, M. A. C.; J. J. Gleason, M. A. C.; Clarence Kirby, Social Turnverein; K. L. Gleason, Social Turnverein; Eddie B. Marschuetta, C. Y. M. C. A.; A. N. Holsman, C. Y. M. C. A.; G. Stanenfelder, unattached; W. Wildberger, unattached; C. S. Brown, Hyde Park Cadets, and E. B. Carroll, unattached.

THE following entries are expected by Saturday morning: Geo. Haas, Central Y. M. C. A.; E. Treft, North Side Y. M. C. A.; Robert Pangle, unattached; H. W. Guest, unattached; B. E. Wilson, unattached; E. J. Murphy, unattached; A. E. Watson, Central Y. M. C. A., and Albert Corey of the First Regiment, Chicago.

This will make a splendidly balanced field of 30 athletes, all trained to the minute, and a stirring contest should be the result.

Joseph H. Guyett, president of the club, will act as honorary referee, and John J. O'Conner will be the official referee. Edwin W. Lee will be clerk of the course, C. W. Bassett starter, and the timers will be C. J. O'Brien, Charles Stevens, Campbell Cumming, Walter Fritsch, Dick Gruner, F. H. Everhardt and Chester Burg.

The judges at the finish will be W. A. Williams, George Burleigh, Sam Stein and R. C. King.

HART IN BED AFTER BATTLE

Louisville Fighter Has Not Yet Recovered From Fight Won by Schreck.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

TONOPAH, Nev., May 31.—Marvin Hart is in bed today as a result of his fight here yesterday afternoon, which he lost to Mike Schreck.

Blinded and bleeding and so weak that he could scarcely stand, Hart was mercifully saved from further punishment in the twenty-first round by his seconds throwing up a towel as a token of defeat.

Schreck had punished the big Kentuckian without mercy for the last ten rounds of the battle, and it was useless to continue. The German's superiority was marked and everybody was satisfied.

TODAY'S GAME IS POSTPONED

The game scheduled for this afternoon at League Park between the Cardinals and Cincinnati is postponed on account of wet grounds. The Cardinals will go barn-storming until next Wednesday, when they will return home to remain for three weeks, meeting all the Eastern clubs. The Quakers will open up a four game series starting on next Wednesday.

Women Pay More.

Why Insurance Companies Discriminate Against the Gentle Sex.

Medical examiners of insurance companies say that the reason a woman pays more for the privilege of insurance than a man, is from the fact that women more readily fall victims to indigestion and stomach troubles and the fatal ailments that spring from these causes.

All persons, they say, who have a weakened digestive system and suffer from sick headache, dizzy spells, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness, and the many other symptoms of indigestion, soon lower the tone of the whole system and are most susceptible to a fatal illness.

For curative power in all stomach troubles, nothing else is as safe yet effective, nothing else can be thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion as Mi-o-na. It is unlike any remedy heretofore known and is really one of the valuable discoveries in modern medical science.

It is not the acute attacks that influence the insurance examiners alone, but the constant feelings of weakness, headaches, indigestion and stomach troubles—these things, physicians say, kill more people than many more serious diseases.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50-cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents. Booth's Miona Company, Buffalo, N. Y.

WELL, ANYWAY, WE TOOK ONE GAME OUT OF FOUR

Fred Glade, Who Has Yet to Be Charged With Defeat, Brings the Single Ray of Sunshine to Local Fans.

Well indeed could the day be called Memorial Day from the standpoint of the local enthusiasts. It was only the artful, steady, unhittable pitching of big Fred Glade, the miller's son, in Chicago, which saved St. Louis from a more humiliating feeling of defeat. He with his thundering scissors-like twists, cannonball straight ones and teasing dink curves, won the afternoon game from the White Sox in Chicago. The other three games were lost.

Yesterday the local followers of the game were interested in four big games of baseball. The Cardinals were to meet the Cincinnati Reds, old rivals, in two games; the Browns entertained the citizens of Chicago as well in a two game series. Of late both teams have been losing with such painful frequency on each afternoon that the patrons of the game are gradually becoming reconciled to their fate and if either band should happen to put up even a close game, why, there is joy galore.

In the morning essays both clubs fell down sadly. Up windway Albert Jacobson, once the star southpaw in the I. I. I. League of Illinois, but who has now degenerated into simply an emergency twirler on McAleer's staff, pitched one of his semi-monthly contests. He was picked up, thrown over, sat down upon and had his neck badly twisted by that club of world's champions whom some insist on calling the hitless wonders. The Browns, of course, made a few bingles off big Smith, but they were queerly shy of runs. In baseball games baseknits help, if whacked out at the right time, but the president of the league insists that the team scoring the most runs usually wins out. The Sox sped around the bases until Jacobson became dizzy of head, sick of heart and weak of hand. The glowing accounts of this contest pictured in choice language how several of our Browns fought valiantly, though fighting against almost unsurmountable odds. That's all very well to read, but it don't move the band out of the nine hole in the percentage table by any means.

Cardinal's Hard Fight.

Early on the morning of Decoration day here, while the old, young and middle-aged were scurrying away to picnics, the barracks and other places, the poor, willing, though woefully weak, Cardinals were out on their own ball lot fighting a desperate battle with their ancient rivals, the Reds of Rhineland. Cold, cheerless, atmospheric conditions and a handful of early birds, met the nines when they lined up. While the Cardinals were unfortunate enough to lose the game, still every lad on the team went the route of 15 long innings gamely. Perhaps Buster Brown did weaken a bit in the tenth and fifteenth innings, but taking the show all in all the locals certainly showed some class. The Reds are playing a much smarter brand of baseball than the Cardinals right now. It is that old Hanlon-Baltimore style.

Though every enthusiast in our good town trudged back to dinner dejected and all but disgusted over the early morning slaughter of both local clubs the afternoon victory of the Browns was a bit of sunshine at least. Fred Glade, who is probably the only twirler on McAleer's staff outside of Howell, who appears to be in condition to pitch at least a close game, showed himself to the Windy City enthusiasts. Glade cantered through the nine innings like a stake nag and narry a run and but few hits did he allow the leaders in the race to steal off him. The Browns, with this big fellow who has to date won five straight games on the hill, played one of their best fielding games. It was Glade alone, however, who really won the game himself with the stick. Tom Jones, for a wonder, worked up and batted out three safe ones.

The afternoon game in town was anything but interesting from a local viewpoint. The Reds used up three of our hillmen, Karger, Fromme and Lefty Shields. On the other hand, the locals at no time appeared to have a chance to get to the lightning speed and peculiar shots from big Bob Ewing's trusty whip. It was indeed a much prettier game than the score and stereotyped box score shows. Though helplessly defeated almost from the outset, the Cardinals backed up their pitchers with many sensational running catches, quick double tosses and all in all put up a game battle.

THE AUTOMOBILE hundred-mile record on a circular track was broken at Washington yesterday when H. C. Wood drove a 60-horsepower Thomas the distance in two hours, 12 minutes and 43 seconds. Two hours and 18 minutes was the best previous performance. He also smashed the mark for the longest distance covered in an hour on a circular track by close to a mile, negotiating nearly 45 miles within the time.

GATHER FOR BIG CHAMPIONSHIPS

Harvard Stadium the Mecca for Athletes of East and West.

BOSTON, May 31.—Seldom in the 32 years of intercollegiate athletics, track and field championships have there been such a wealth of runners, leapers and weight hurlers of high-grade as gathered today for the annual two days' meet in the Harvard Stadium, nor has the outcome of the contest ever been quite so much in doubt. It seems almost certain that some of the marks in the 13 events will be displaced by better figures during the two days and that Cornell, which won the championship in the Stadium last year, will have to fight hard to retain the title.

A new aspirant for intercollegiate honors this year is the University of Michigan, holder of the Western championship, which has sent a remarkably fast and strong team. Whether Michigan will displace Cornell or surpass the efforts of Pennsylvania, Yale or Harvard is one of the questions that was on the lips today of nearly every one who is interested in athletic sports.

While these five universities have representatives in nearly every event, they will not only have to contend against each other, but against some unusually strong and fleet men from smaller institutions who may prove unexpected factors at critical periods.

Such men as Rulon-Miller of Princeton, and Read of Amherst, in the 100-yard dash; Shaw of Dartmouth, and Hubbard of ...nherst in the high and low hurdles; Horr of Syracuse in the hammer throw, and several other contestants are regarded as almost sure point-winners if not capable of taking first place in these events.

FRANK GOTCH, champion wrestler of the United States, threw John Rooney of Chicago at Kansas City last night twice within the hour. According to the terms of the match the blond Iowan was to get two falls within 60 minutes, which he succeeded in doing.

WET GROUNDS MAY STOP GAME

The Smith-Central High Baseball Match Is Still In the Balance.

Unless the weather man works overtime within the next 24 hours and clears things up there appears very little probability of Smith Academy and Central High School playing their annual game of ball tomorrow morning in the Stadium as per schedule. The contest was to be the deciding struggle in the Interscholastic League race and a victory will give Smith the undisputed championship, while a defeat for the Red and White means a three-cornered tie between Western Military Academy, Smith and Central.

SPORTING NOTES

AS WAS expected Central High won the interscholastic League track and field championships held in the Stadium yesterday afternoon. The real surprise of the day was the unexpectedly fine showing of the athletes of McKinley High School, who finished second to the wearers of the Red and Black. The meet was a success athletically and was featured by the passing of eight interscholastic records. Marin Kiefer, Christine, Dowell, Haynes, Nichols and Morton were the men to gain the honor of setting the new marks. Manual Training School, owing in great measure to Martin's wins in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, finished third. Yeatman was fourth and Smith scored only with Schopp's win in the hammer throw.

PITCHER BARGER, late of the Highlanders, has joined the Montreal team.

CLEVELAND HAS the worst left field in the American League—a sun field distinctly.

SY SEYMOUR, who aspires to lead the league in hitting this fall, has dropped down to .268. He is still the big slugger, though, with two homers, two triples and six doubles.

MANAGER TENNEY is trying out Pitcher Boultes for the Boston infield. The boy is a natural ballplayer and has hit well this year.

SCOTS' SPORTS BEING PLANNED

Clans Will Hold Their Annual Games at Normandy Grove July 4.

Scottish sports are to be held at Normandy Grove July 4, by the clans of the city. The program will consist of all forms of athletics and sports found in Scottish games. In all there will be 21 events.

The entry forms will be issued June 10 and will be placed at all athletic clubs. The events that will be open to A. A. U. members are the 100-yard, the 220-yard, the 440-yard and mile events, broad and high jumps, putting the 16-pound shot and the pole vault.

The Scottish sports are annual events and heretofore have attracted many athletes from the different local organizations. Besides the events which are confined to amateurs there will be other sports for the clansmen and others who would not be eligible to compete under A. A. U. rulings.

TRY THIS FOR SALLOW COMPLEXION.

The following prescription is one constantly prescribed by the most up-to-date physicians and is known as the Pasteur formula: "Two ounces Essence of Pepsin; three ounces Syrup of Ginger; one ounce Catandir Compound; mix well and use in doses of from one to two teaspoonfuls after each meal; also at bed time for the first four or five days." Sallow complexion, bad breath and nervousness are caused by imperfect digestion which allows poisonous acids to be absorbed into the blood instead of being expelled through the bowels. This extremely distressing condition is said to be most effectually removed by the use of the above prescription. A well known local druggist states that he has advised many of his patrons that this formula has exceptional curative powers and that it makes a pleasant remedy to take. The ingredients can be gotten from any well stocked pharmacy and easily mixed at home.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought about by indigestion, chronic constipation, and the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural eliminative organs have failed to carry out. This refuse or waste matter ferments and sours, generating uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. One may also be born with a predisposition or tendency to Rheumatism, because like all blood diseases it can be transmitted from parent to child. The aches and pains of the disease are only symptoms which you may scatter or relieve with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or deaden with opiates. As soon, however, as such treatment is left off or there is any exposure to cold or dampness, or after an attack of indigestion or constipation, the wandering pains, sore muscles and joints, and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms while the real cause of the disease remains in the blood. Rheumatism can never be cured while the blood remains saturated with irritating, pain producing uric acid poison. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by driving the cause out of the blood. It thoroughly cleanses the blood and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and expelling all foreign matter from the system. S. S. S. stimulates and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, constantly depositing acrid and corrosive matter in the muscles, joints, nerves and bones, the body is soothed and nourished by rich, health-sustaining blood, which completely and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. is composed of roots, herbs and barks which possess both purifying and tonic properties—just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free. ELIEF FOUND IN LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA CASES

St. Louis Physician Has Improved on German Treatment.

WALKING IN SQUARES

This System Enables Patients to Regain Control of Muscles.

News dispatches from Berlin announcing the success of a method employed by Dr. Fraenkel, a famous neurologist, in treating locomotor ataxia have cheered St. Louisans afflicted with the fatal disease who have been undergoing a similar treatment.

Dr. Fraenkel requires his patients to walk in certain diagrams chalked on the floor. After continuous exercise of this kind his patients have regained control over their legs.

The dispatches say that Heinrich Conried, who for the last two months was hardly able to move his limbs because of locomotor ataxia, walked nearly two-thirds of a mile as a result of Dr. Fraenkel's treatment. The patient was required to place his feet acording to the chalked diagrams for a number of hours every day. Afterwards he walked by himself in the open still imitating the movements he had made with the chalk lines under his feet.

A sufferer from locomotor ataxia cannot put his feet down where he wishes them. It is only by looking at his feet and seeing where they land after his mind has willed where they go that he can walk at all. In acute cases walking is impossible. The idea of the chalk lines is to put the muscles through movements which have a tendency to restore the co-ordination between the brain and the nervous system.

Old Method Improved.

Not only is Dr. Fraenkel's method unfamiliar to St. Louis physicians, but a few months ago Dr. Marc Ray Hughes, a young St. Louis neurologist, added to this method ideas of his own which have resulted in marked improvement. Dr. Hughes took several of his patients to a meeting of the St. Louis Medical Society. There he put them through the movements he has originated and demonstrated the practical success of his theories. To a Post-Dispatch reporter Dr. Hughes outlined his method.

"It consists not onyl in educating the limbs, but in suggestion to the mind," said Dr. Hughes.

"Locomoter ataxia prevents the governing by the mind of the movements the limbs. The mental suggestion in method goes hand in hand with the ation of the muscles.

"This method has not been used before. With it I have cured several patients. Dr. Fraenkel's method has been in use for several years."

Other St. Louis physicians look upon the education of the muscles as the the most beneficial method of treating locomoter ataxia.

Cure Is Not Permanent.

"There seems to be a tendency to use the muscle in educational methods more than medicinal or electrical treatment," said Dr. Louis Boisliniere. "Locomoter ataxia consists in the hardening of the spine thus preventing the brain, which works through the spine, directing the movements of certain muscles. The education of the muscles by certain systematic movements tends to awaken them to their normal use.

"Dr. Fraengel's idea is not new. All the best text books on neurology contain this and similar methods. But the tendency lately to rely more on this system seems stronger. So far there has not been discovered a permanent cure for the disease. A person afflicted with it may live many years, but there is no cure."

Dr. Frank R. Frye said:

"Fraenkel's system has been in use for a number of years. It has been tried in St. Louis with much success. It consists not only in systematic exercise of the legs, but of trunks and hanks."

"The method is a good one," said Dr. Given Campbell. "I would hardly call it a cure. It is more a process to re-educate the muscles."

"Hydrocurve" Fast Motor Boat on the Water.

The "Hydrocurve," fast motor boat, was on the water yesterday for the purpose of firing a salute for the ladies of the G. A. R. in honor of naval heroes.

No attempt was made at speeding, as those in charge were members of the Executive Committee for Decoration day exercises and would not permit any demonstration except cruising.

The first river event of interest that will bring out a crowd will probably be seized upon to show up the "speeder."

Providence Will Furnish Prophet.

At the annual convention of Presbyterian Brotherhood held at the Grand Avenue Presbyterian Church Thursday, Rev. Charles Stelzle said that labor problems would be solved by a prophet chosen by Providence. Rev. P. W. Russell and T. S. McPheeters of St. Louis also made speeches.

BARY PRISONER IS PET OF JAIL

Mother Arrested for Jumping Bond Takes Little One to Cell.

Mrs. Mamie Taylor and her 7-months-old baby are in the Clayton Jail for a week. The young mother, who is charged with bond jumping, and hence has small hope of finding a new bondsman, made herself comfortable Friday in the corridor of the women's department. Her baby boy, who has bright blue eyes and the beginnings of equally bright red hair, was petted almost to the spoiling point by the other women prisoners.

Mrs. Taylor's only worry was for her two other children, Lottie, aged 4, and Rosa, 2, who are in the care of their grandfather, Jackson Tayon, at his home in Mokeville, St. Louis County.

More than a month ago Mrs. Taylor quarreled with Mrs. Lena Runnels, a Mokeville neighbor, and was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace. A. Regalli furnished $200 bond for her at Clayton.

On April 24, the day set for the trial, Mrs. Taylor did not appear. She reappeared in Mokeville a few days ago, and was arrested Thursday afternoon and taken to Clayton.

She said Friday that she had no intention of breaking the law by her departure.

"My aunt was ill in East St. Louis, and I had to go over there and stay with her till she got better," Mrs. Taylor said. "I forgot all about the old trial."

Next Friday has been set for the trial on the old charge and for the hearing of the new bond jumping charge. Regalli hopes to get his $200 forfeiture set aside at that time, but he is taking no more chances on Mrs. Taylor.

SHORT TALKS BY L. T. COOPER.

ALL WORN OUT.

This is the time of year for the "all worn out" feeling. You hear it everywhere. "I'm all worn out." Did you ever stop to think what it means? Well, it means just this: "my liver is dull and not working properly, my stomach is taking too much food which it isn't digesting properly. I'm all clogged up from being in doors with so little fresh air all winter long, and my body is full of impurities. In consequence I'm dull, half feverish and tired all the time." That is what "all worn out" really means. Take a tablespoonful of Cooper's New Discovery three times a day for two weeks and the "all worn out" feeling will certainly leave.

Mr. John Burger.

Mr. Burger was "all worn out" once. "For some weeks I suffered from an affection of the stomach that seemed to wear me out completely. My system was run down [illegible] bowels constipated, I had dull [illegible] and although I was not sick enough to go to bed I did not have ambition to stir around. I read of Cooper's New Discovery and began using it. I am glad to say that two bottles put me on my feet and relieved every symptom of my trouble. It is one of the best system tonics I have ever heard of." John Burger, 1119 Hopkins St., Cincinnati, O.

SOCIETY
NEWS OF THE DAY

JOPLIN, Mo., May 31.—The marriage of Baron Paul von Zglinitzki and Miss Helen Nicholson will take place here Saturday at noon. Rev. Charles A. Weed, rector of St. Philip's Episcopal Church, will read the Episcopal service. The ceremony will be at the home of the parents of the bride—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nicholson, 302 Byers avenue. Only the parents of the bride and a few intimate friends, among them Dr. and Mrs. Nicholson of St. Louis, will be present.

Until a few weeks ago it was planned to go to New York for the marriage ceremony, but altered business plans of the Baron caused a change in those of the wedding. It was also the wish of the parents of the bride that she should be married at their home. Another factor in the change of plans was the inability of several European friends of the couple to come to New York. The Nicholson home will be simply decorated. The Baron and his bride are to stand in the drawing room, before a bank of palms. Aside from these, the only decorations will be June roses and bride's roses.

The bride is to wear a white cloth traveling gown, trimmed in pink and gold. A plain skirt, almost devoid of trimming, except a few small plaits, is surmounted by a girdle, over which will be worn a jacket having the characteristics of both the Eton and the bolero, with elbow sleeves. She will carry bride's roses, in a small bouquet. Miss Nicholson's traveling hat is designed to match the costume—a large straw sailor, wreathed in pink roses, interwoven with pale blue ribbon.

Following the ceremony luncheon will be served, after which the Baron and his bride are to go to Eureka Springs, Ark., to spend a short honeymoon, then return to Joplin. Baron Zglinitzki has entered into a mining business partnership with his father-in-law. Later they will make an extended wedding trip, the itinerary of which has not yet been determined.

Present at the wedding will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nicholson, parents of the bride; the Countess Littberg, wife of the court marshal to Leopold Littberg of Poland; Miss Margaret Richardson of New Orleans, a chum of Miss Nicholson during her school days in New York; Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Nicholson of St. Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Norman P. Rood of Joplin, Mr. James W. Trick of Joplin. Dr. Nicholson is an uncle to the bride. Mr. Trick is the private secretary of Mr. Nicholson, father of the bride. Among the invited guests, but who were unable to attend, were the Prince and Princess of Auersperg. The Princess was formerly Miss Hazard of New York City. The Countess Littberg arrived in Joplin Thursday morning and has been a guest at the Nicholson home since that time. She will remain several days before returning to her home in Europe.

The gifts to the Baron and his bride are many and valuable. That of Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Nicholson of St. Louis is a set of a dozen cups and saucers, in silver and cut glass.

Miss Nicholson is one of the most beautiful young women residing in Joplin. She has few acquaintances there, and has never appeared in Joplin society. She was born in St. Louis, and received her early education there. Afterward she attended school in New York, and thence went to Paris, where she attended a Parisian girl's school, completing her education. For two years afterward she and her mother traveled extensively in Europe, and the conclusion of their journeyings was the engagement last summer of Miss Nicholson and Baron Paul von Zglinitzki.

Dancing Club Revival Proposed.

Harry W. Trimp is the originator of many novelty parties and cotillions, and has introduced some new ideas in the art of dancing. Once each season he entertains his friends and patrons with a summer outing. This season it will be a novelty boat ride bordering upon the unique order. It is entitled a Midsummer's Evening Picnic by Moonlight. Invitations were mailed in the shape of a moon, with instructions for all the ladies to bring refreshments for two, and all to come in picnic costume; also to bring paper napkins, tablecloth and wooden plates.

A beautiful silver loving cup has been purchased by Mr. Trimp, which he will present to the most popular dancing club in St. Louis. This is to be a bonfide voting contest, it is said, as the guests themselves will vote for the most popular club in their estimation. The clubs themselves will have to do nothing but await the returns. Mr. Trimp contends that this will renew the interest in dancing clubs and dancing in general, as the winning club will hold the cup but one year, when they, in turn, will award same to another club of like character.

The T. A. C's. are quite sure of securing the decision, while the Iris Girls and Black Feathers are equally as positive that it will belong to them. When come the G. A. G.'s, noted for their large attendance, with the Minervas, Cosmo, Buckingham, Colonial, T. B. G., King Hotu Everglades, Forest Belle, Lindell Belle, Davonshire, Drug Clerk, Iola and B'nai Moona clubs.

Club colors of all kinds will be much in evidence that evening, and as all the clubs are friendly toward the affect, and one just as popular as the other, it will be, indeed, a hard matter to select the winner.

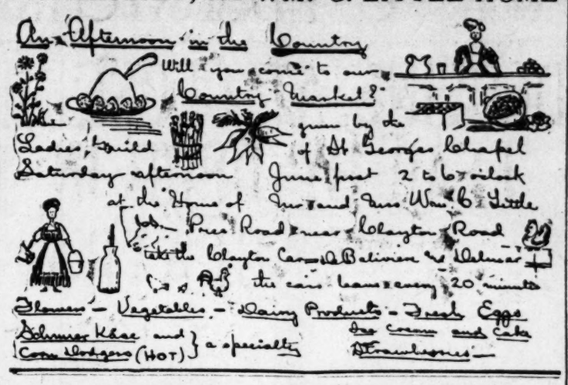
UNIQUE INVITATION FOR COUNTRY MARKET, AT WM. C. LITTLE HOME



SHOT AT WOMAN AND STRUCK MAN

Fireman Howard Seriously Wounded While Walking in Street Near Home.

BULLET ENTERED HIS BACK

Michael McGovern and Maggie Shaughnessy Are Taken Into Custody.

Michael McGovern, who is believed to have fired the shot which struck Fire Truck Foreman John Howard of No. 2 Engine Co., and probably fatally injured him, was arrested by the police of the Carr Street Station Friday morning. He was found at his room, 1534 North Broadway. A revolver found in the room was retained by the police. McGovern denied firing a pistol at anybody.

McGovern is said by the police and by witnesses to have been shooting at a woman, who calls herself Maggie Shaughnessy, but who says she is McGovern's wife. She was arrested with him. McGovern admits having quarreled with her.

The shooting occurred in front of 2004 Division street, only a few doors from Howard's home, at 2016. The fireman was leaving his home at 8:20 p. m. Thursday and was shot in the back as he walked along the street.

Mrs. Hamburger told a Post-Dispatch reporter that McGovern came to her home Thursday evening and asked to see Miss Shaughnessy. His request was refused and he kicked in the front door, she said, drawing a revolver and holding it in Miss Shaughnessy's face, threatening to kill her.

Shot at His Sweetheart.

"I ran between them," said Mrs. Hamburger, "and tried to strike his hand down. He said he would blow my head off and Miss Shaughnessy ran into the street. He followed and shot at her twice. Neither shot struck her, but one hit a man walking in the street. The bullet struck the man in the back and he quickly placed his hand to the wounded spot. McGovern thought he was reaching for a pistol, I suppose, and running up to him waved the revolver in his face and threatened to kill him unless he held up his hands. Then McGovern and Miss Shaughnessy disappeared, running up the street."

Howard's injury was not painful, so he went on foot to the residence of Dr. S. S. Tholman, 2323 North Market street. The physician told him the bullet had caused only a flesh wound. Howard retired when he reached the fire engine house. In the night he was awakened by pain and was found to be suffering from a hemorrhage.

After he was taken to the hospital he asked for a priest. Father Kelly was called, but when he arrived the fireman was unconscious. The bullet enered the back near the base of the spine and penetrated the abdominal cavity.

McGovern was taken to the City Hospital by the police and Howard identified him as the man who snot him. McGovern says he knew that he was drunk and did not know whether he fired his revolver or not.

STRANGER DESERTS HORSE HE LEFT WITH BYSTANDER

August C. Hightower Had Animal Curried and Shod, but Fails to Find Owner.

August C. Hightower, 1215 Chestnut street, came into possession of a bay horse and runabout Thursday afternoon. He was standing at Thirteenth and Chestnut streets when a stranger drove up and asked to be directed to a horse massage parlor.

"The animal needs currying," said the stranger. "If you will take him somewhere and have him rubbed I will pay you."

The stranger got out and Hightower jumped in. After having the horse groomed Hightower noticed that two shoes were missing and he hunted a blacksmith.

The horse was shod and Hightower started back to the corner where he had left the owner. The latter had disappeared, and after spending an hour searching for him, Hightower drove to Central District Police Station. The police took the outfit to a stable at Sixth street and Clark avenue, where it is now being held for its owner.

DEEDS OF "BLACK HAND" STIR POLICE

Judges of a New York Court Have Asked that Laws Be Made More Severe.

75 CRIMES IN ONE YEAR

Italians Deny That Such an Organization Exists, and Detection is Difficult.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The recent attempt on the life of Dr. Marker Dadirrian, a physician here, by means of an infernal machine, has stirred the police to special efforts to ferret out members of the so-called "Black Hand" in this city. The authorities thus far have succeeded in apprehending few of these criminals and have obtained yet fewer convictions.

The grand jury in Brooklyn is making a special inquiry, by Judge Dike's direction into all outrages committed by the "Black Hand," which are brought to its attention, while the judges of the Court of General Sessions in Manhattan have asked the Legislature to increase the penalty for extortion of blackmail by threats of murder, from five to twenty years' imprisonment. They believe such legislation would have a deterrent effect and lessen that class of crimes.

First Conviction Nine Months Ago.

Long as is the list of crimes in this city attributed to the "Black Hand," it was not until nine months ago that a proved member of the order was convicted. There have been hundreds of arrests since then, but not many convictions. Italians deny that there is any regularly organized "Black Hand" society in America, but the contrary was testified to by Joseph Rizzo in the trial of a number of Italians of the alleged order at Wilkesbarre, Pa., in April. He said the organization had as many as 50 branches.

The New York police have as yet found no evidence of any local branch, but they admit that they find it difficult to get Italians to testify in reputed "Black Hand" cases because of a general fear of vendetta.

According to the World today, in 1906 and so far this year, there have been nearly seventy-five murders, attempts at murder, kidnapings, bomb explosions, robberies and attempts at blackmailing in Greater New York and its environs in New Jersey and Long Island—all charged to the "Black Hand." Almost without exception the perpetrators of these outrages remain unknown and unpunished.

A Great Convenience.

If you are going to Sedalia, Clinton, Windsor, Boonville, Columbia or Jefferson City, you will find the "11:50" p. m. train via the M., K. & T. Ry. a great convenience. By using this train you can spend the evening at the theater and reach your destination the following morning. This train carries a standard sleeper, which is open for occupancy at 10 p. m., so that if you desire you may be asleep before the train leaves.

Try the "11:50" the next time. Tickets and berths at 722 Olive street and Union Station.

SWEET-TOOTHED THIEVES CARRY OFF CHOCOLATE CANDY

Also Get $15 in Cash While at Work in Pendleton Avenue Grocery.

Julian Teiser's grocery at 916 Pendleton avenue looked as if a tempest had been turned loose in it when the proprietor arrived there Friday morning. Burglars during the night had turned the stock topsy-turvy. They stole some money and chocolate candy.

All the pepper and mustard drawers back of the counter stood open, while brooms and other heavy articles had been thrown from the shelves.

Teiser thinks that the thieves were boys living in the neighborhood and that they were searching for hidden treasure behind the stock on the shelves. He keeps no treasure there, however, and the search was fruitless. They ransacked his desk and got out a memorandum of the safe combination. This was not used and Teiser found the paper lying on a rear counter.

A revolver in the desk was overlooked.

The thieves got $15 out of the cash register and broke open the battery box of the telephone. They were evidently novices, as the cash receptacle of the telephone was not disturbed.

Girl's Alleged Slayer Pursued.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 31.—Capt. V. G. Milliken of this city, with two bloodhounds, today took up the trail of William Jones, who is charged with the murder of Stella Clemmans, an 18-year-old girl, last night. The girl was found at Jones' house in Bath County, with her throat cut from ear to ear.

Jones was last seen going in the direction of Carlisle.

JUDGMENT AGAINST WIDOW FOR HUSBAND'S MONUMENT

Mrs. Jacob Strauss Denies That She Ordered Shaft to Cost $167.

Less than a year after Mrs. Jacob Strauss of 4159 Westminster place ordered an imposing granite monument to mark the burying place of her late husband in New Mount Sinai Cemetery, judgment has been rendered against her by default in a suit to compel her to pay for the monument.

The H. Marquardt Marble and Granite Co. contended before Justice O'Hallaron Friday that on July 9, 1906, Mrs. Strauss contracted with them for a granite monument, for which she was to pay $167, and that the monument was put in place shortly afterwards. She was to pay $5 a month until the debt was settled, but only made four payments, it was said.

As Mrs. Strauss did not appear judgment was given against her for $147 and costs.

BOY DISAPPEARS ON WAY TO GRANDMOTHER'S HOME

Suitcase and Trunk Arrive, but Nothing Has Been Heard From Youth for Month.

Charles Glenn, 17 years old, left his sister's home in Kansas City a month ago to go to the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Edward Bowman, 1926 Tudor avenue, East St. Louis. His trunk and suitcase, checked as baggage, arrived at the home of Mrs. Bowman the next day, but nothing has been seen of the youth.

Mrs. May Hunter, 1869 Starck avenue, Kansas City, the sister, has also heard nothing from him. An adv

CHICAGO CHRONICLE SUSPENDS

Last Issue Appeared Today, the Editor Announces.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CHICAGO, May 31.—The Chicago Chronicle this morning announces that it will cease publication with this issue owing to the fact that the paper has been unprofitable for some time. The official notice, signed by the editor, H. W. Seymour, follows:

"As it has not been profitable of late, publication of the Chronicle will be suspended with this issue. All liabilities of the Chicago Chronicle Co. will be met as usual in the regular course."

The Chronicle began publication on May 28, 1895, as the only Democratic morning paper then in Chicago. John R. Walsh, one of the chief owners, and formerly president of the Chicago National Bank, refused the support of his paper to William J. Bryan during Bryan's candidacy for the presidency, and in the last national campaign the Chronicle came out as a Republican newspaper. The last issue of the Chicago Chronicle was No. 4 of volume 13.

ROLLS 32 $20 BILLS INTO BALLS; THIEVES GET THEM.

Mississippi Druggist With Plenty of Money Finds Many New "Friends."

Thirty-two $20 bills, each rolled up into a little ball, rolled away from Edwin Burnley, a druggist of Hazelhurst, Miss., while he was entertaining strangers in downtown saloons Thursday night. He reported his loss to the police and was locked up in the Four Courts for safe keeping. As a result of Burnley's experience six suspects have been arrested.

Burnley, who was recently discharged from the United States Army, after serving for several years as a Commissary Sergeant, arrived in St. Louis Thursday evening and visited many saloons, making the acquaintance of several men.

In nearly every saloon he drew his money balls from his pocket, threw them on the bar and invited everyone in the house to join him. He was cautioned by saloon keepers not to display his money, but he replied that he had plenty of it and didn't care. He selected one man from the crowd of newly-made friends and took him to a theater. After the show they visited more saloons.

While passing the alley on Clark avenue, between Broadway and Sixth street, Burnley was attacked by four men. He was dragged into the alley and robbed. Two policemen arrived on the scene in time to see the assailants running through the alley. Burnley claimed that one of the robbers was the man whom he took to the show.

Among the suspects arrested was a man whom the police say was begging on the streets Wednesday night for the price of a bed. He had $140 when arrested.

THREATENED BY BOARDER SHE DROPS TWENTY FEET

Woman Severely Hurt In Escaping From Man Who Demands Ten Cents.

Pursued by a former boarder, who threatened to kill her because of her refusal to lend him 10 cents, Mrs. Lizzie Lampe of 1941 North Ninth street clung onto the window sill out of the second-story of her house Thursday afternoon until exhausted.

Her benumbed fingers gradually loosened on the sill and she dropped to the areaway. Her knee was fractured and her wrist and ankle sprained.

A neighbor hid the injured woman behind a dresser while the boarder demanded admittance. He left after threatening the lives of all and Mrs. Lampe was taken to the City Dispensary.

Wedding Kept Secret.

For nine months W. A. Olds of the senior class in the medical department of Washington University, and Miss Mayme Eichensier of Red Bud, Ill., kept their marriage a secret. They are now visiting the bride's parents and the news of the wedding was made public Thursday. They were married by Rev. Father Enright of the Grand Avenue Rock Church. Miss Lillian Lewis, 2809 N. Taylor avenue, and Joseph Lind, 4243 Natural Bridge Road, acted as bridesmaid and best man. Dr. Olds' home is in the State of Washington.

Threatened to Kill Woman.

Maggie Shaughnessy, or Mrs. McGovern, as she gave her name to the police, was at the home of a friend, Mrs. Dora Hamburger, 2025 Division street, Thursday evening. She is said to have left her recent residence, 2138 Division street, after a quarrel with McGovern.

East St. Louis News

The Alta Sita Trolley League team was defeated Thursday at Alta Sita Park by the Renkels of St. Louis by a score of 9 to 1. As no games were scheduled in the Trolley League for Decoration day the game was arranged with the Renkels, which is the only team to defeat the Alta sitas this year. Abner, the Alta Sita pitcher, played center field and "Bobby" Hoge pitched. He went to pieces in the second inning and the Renkels made seven runs. He struck out seven men during the game, but allowed 13 hits. Rohards of the Renkels struck out eight and allowed only eight scattered hits.

At a meeting of the picnic committee Thursday night it was decided to recommend that the annual picnic of the Retail Merchants' Association be held at Lansdowne Park and that no intoxicating liquors be sold on the grounds. The members of the Lansdowne W. C. T. U. will give an entertainment and flower offering June 10 at the Lansdowne Christian Church.

The baccalaureate sermon to the High School graduating class of '07 will be preached June 16 at the First M. E. Church.

GIRL WHO WORE BOY TOGS IS SENT TO THE INDUSTRIAL

Lillian Robirds Meant No Harm, but Mother Requested That She Be Detained.

Lillian Robirds, 15 years old, 301 Market street, had no intention of being naughty and it was in a spirt of mischief that she put on boy's clothes to go five blocks and call on her sister, but it was sufficient to cause her mother to ask her daughter's commitment to St. Philamona's Industrial School. Judge Williams complied with the request Friday morning.

"I want her to go to school and to have religious training," said Mrs. Olive Robirds. Lillian is one of four daughters whom Mrs. Robirds has struggled to raise and educate since her husband died as a result of a shock induced by the St. Louis cyclone.

Lillian had a chum, Edna Bates, 17 years old, 515 Walnut street, who also masqueraded in boy's clothes. They went out shortly before 10 p. m. Tuesday. The Bates girl was released on the promise of her mother to keep her at home.

COMMITTEE TO OVERSEE TRI-CITY LABOR TEMPLE

Charter to Be Sought at Once for $40,000 Building for Unions.

At a meeting of the Trades Council of Granite City Thursday night a committee composed of J. W. Grant, Ben Ford, Charles Fowler, George Watson, Kirkpatrick and Joseph Krauth was appointed to arrange for the building of what will be known as the Tri-City Labor Temple. The committee was instructed to apply at once to the Secretary of State for a charter and to select a site, which must be central.

While the plans of the temple have not been drawn, the council purposes to erect a four-story structure, costing $40,000.

Seventy per cent of the stock will be sold to members of the various unions in Granite City, Madison and Venice, and the remainder to outsiders.

The building will have one large hall for conventions, a medium-sized hall and a smaller hall. There will be committee, office and store rooms. It will be of brick.

THE POST-DISPATCH'S DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

DECLINE AT CLOSE LEAD BY DROP IN N. Y. CENTRAL

Gaining an Average of a Point at Opening Market Lost Its Advance---Harriman Bought Union Pacific.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 31, 3 p. m.—The market held its high levels until shortly after noon and following dullness, sold off ¼ to ⅜ of a point. For half an hour after 1 o'clock the market was steady and then the bear crowd centered on New York Central again as they did just before noon, with the same result, including a close ⅛ to ¼ under the opening for the day over nearly all of the general list. American Car and Foundry was one of the very few of the industrials that closed with a net gain for the day—nearly 2 points. St. Paul closed only ⅛ under its opening.

The close was at the low point for the day and was accompanied by a slight stiffening in call money rates to 2½ per cent.

NEW YORK, May 31, 12:30 p. m.—With Harriman credited with heavy Union Pacific purchases this forenoon the stock market has been able to hold a little better than the higher opening levels of this morning. The reported Harriman buying sustained the list. Call money opened at 2 per cent and was quoted at 1¾. No reports of gold engagements. The bear element were unable to force prices down even with publication of the statement that the Interstate Commerce Commissioner's report will be filed in a few days recommending that Harriman be required to answer questions about the Alton deal.

The industrial issues held their advances, American Car and Foundry common being 2 points over its open at noon. The commission house opinion that from this time on stocks will advance, was taken seriously and many coincided with that view. Sales to noon, 303,000.

Now that the market has a complete understanding of the President's Indianapolis speech, the street is hearing that the advance information circulated last Monday and Tuesday, as an authentic forecast of what the speech was to contain, was a part—no more and no less—of the little game of politics that has been in progress for several weeks with reference to the address. The street wanted to discount the effect of the address in advance, the fear of more damaging utterances to the stock market being indicated by the nine days of persistent decline preceding the delivery of the address.

The little success the street had was the slight improvements Tuesday and Wednesday. It is now stated that the speech as delivered shows the earmarks of review, reiteration and new and stronger anti-corporation pronouncement. These alterations, the street believes, were made because the forecast published early in the week, was extracted with the one view of giving early the references favorable to corporations.

As defined in Wall street today the portion of the address relating to similar control of railroads by the Government as it exercised over the national banks, amounts to a proposition for the Government to in a way guarantee railroad financing—a good thing for the railroads, but liable to be viewed by many as an additional bulwark for the money power.

The existence in the London market of a feeling that the President's address was as had been indicated—less against corporations—was shown in the improved London opening. This was followed by the advance at the opening over the entire general list in this market of ½ to 1 point, with a better tone and greater activity than marked the earlier days of the week.

The industrial stocks were included in the high openings, lead by Steel common, ½ point high and advancing in the earlier quotations to the vicinity of 34. In a few quotations Amalgamateu Copper went ⅝ above its Wednesday close. Smelter was also ½ point up and American Car and Foundry common 1¼ points up.

At the close of the first half hour the Harriman railroad stocks, the Hill issues, Reading, St. Paul, Pennsylvania, New York Central and other active leaders were from 1 point to 1½ points over the Wednesday close, with a general tendency higher.

NEGROES THREATEN WOMAN OPPOSING SUMMER GARDEN

Mrs. Scully Receives Letters Signed A. P. A. With Scull and Bones Attached.

Mrs. Grace E. L. Scully of 3842 Arlington avenue has received threatening letters signed "A. P. A." and with a skull and cross-bones, following her action in fighting the proposed negro amusement park in Union boulevard, between Labadie and Ashland avenues.

Mrs. Scully is a large property owner near the proposed site. At a meeting of the Northwest Improvement Association held Thursday ten members of the association completed the purchase of a lot 30 by 124 feet adjoining the park site.

Vincent McShane, a delegate of the House of Delegates, told the members present that the only way to prevent the erection of the park was to have the Municipal Assembly extend the fire limits, 150 feet west of Union boulevard.

MURDERED, THROWN IN FURNACE

The mutilated and almost consumed body of a man was found in the furnace of the soap factory. There is no clue to identity. Police believe he was murdered and an attempt made to dispose of the body.

FINANCIAL.

Bondholders of the Toledo Terminal & Railway Co. will hold conferences in New York Friday and Saturday preparatory to the promulgation of a plan of reorganization of the property, the control of which rests in their hands. J. P. Morgan & Co. will, no doubt, participate in the reorganization.

New York wires to the financial district Friday were indicative of the probability of further gold exports to France, but no engagements of the metal were reported during the forenoon.

Edward Glaser, representative on the St. Louis Stock Exchange of Morris Glaser & Co., was on the floor again Friday after a vacation trip of two weeks in the East.

A great deal of comment has been caused by the recent decline in the price of Missouri Lincoln Trust Co. shares. The publication of the company's foreclosure of a large loan is being urged by some as a reason for the drop. Officials of the company deny this, and state that the reasons are purely of a speculative character. It is pointed out that this company has 30,000 shares outstanding, many of which are owned by people who purchase to make small profits. Simultaneous pressure of a few round lots of stock in the face of the general dullness is held responsible for the weakness as aforesaid.

As usual at this time of the year, St. Louis banking institutions are actively buying three and four months paper for country correspondents desiring to keep their lands fully employed up to the crop-moving period. Statements of local institutions show a somewhat lower cash reserve in some instances, as contrasted with the previous bank call, but this is simply a temporary condition.

Local bank clearings and balances: Clearings for Friday, $12,899,051; last week, $8,816,065. Balances for Friday, $478,909; last week, $878,484. Increase, clearings, $4,082,986; decrease, balances, $399,575. Clearings for this month, ending today, $276,544,296; balances, $24,006,754. Clearings, corresponding month last year, $245,380,160; balances, $21,419,423.

The new glucose plant at Clinton, Io., has been completed and is now in full operation. It has a capacity of 8000 bushels of corn a day and is making starch, glucose, grape sugar and by-products. It is said to be the most complete and modern plant in the country, being equipped for the production of high-grade material at the lowest possible cost. It is known as the Clinton Sugar Refining Co., and has a capital of $1,100,000. The plant cost $800,000. It is backed by interests behind the National Candy Co. and was started to supply the latter company with glucose. The capacity was increased 65 to 70 per cent beyond the candy company's requirements for economical operation. The plant is advantageously situated, being on the banks of the Mississippi, which gives it a good supply of water, and the four leading Western railroads run to the company's plant.

J BASK IN SUN TAKE A BALLOON

Aeronauts After Ascension Advise St. Louisans to Go Up 10,000 Feet.

If you want to escape the rain and bad weather get a balloon and fly upward 10,000 feet.

That is the advice given to a Post-Dispatch reporter by Harry E. Hunnewell and John K. Campbell, on their return to St. Louis Friday with the balloon in which they sailed from St. Louis to H. Weigle's farm, in Illinois, 45 miles north, Thursday.

The only unpleasant experience they had was in the rain that wet them and the big bag as they descended after a delightful cruise above the clouds, above the cold and dampness and far beyond the noise and sight of the world.

More than an hour of their flight was through a beautiful fairyland, with soft, white clouds under foot and a fleecy covering through which the sunlight filtered. The air was clean and warm and the vision uninterrupted for 50 miles in each direction.

But when the return to earth was made ten minutes' exposure to the downpour soaked them as thoroughly as if they had been in it all afternoon.

Sailed Below Clouds.

"After we disappeared from the view of St. Louis—10 minutes after the start—we enjoyed what is a rare experience even for old aeronauts," said Mr. Hunnewell.

"The balloon shot through the nimbus and cumulus clouds that later drenched the earth, we entered a vast space between them and a layer of cirrus clouds—50,000 feet above us.

"As we passed through the nimbus cluods we heard the last messages we received from mankind until we began the descent an hour or so later. Those were the crowing of roosters and the whistling of locomotives.

"Under us the clouds seemed like a great snowy field, like feathers floating in the air. We were 10,000 feet above St. Louis then, and the temperature rose 10 degrees—from 65 at the start to 75 at that time.

Rain Pulled Them Down.

"Everything below us was obscured from view by the clouds. We could see only toward the horizon, but that must have been fifty miles.

"We could not tell when we crossed the Missouri River. But when we passed over the Mississippi we had already started downward and the moisture soaked the gasbag and increased its weight. We threw out before alighting about 110 pounds of ballast. We were still heavy and I estimate that the water held in the fibres of the 200 square yards of the bag must have weighed 50 to 75 pounds.

"We sang while above the clouds, but the feeling that filled us was so solemn that we couldn't be very gay.

Released Two Pigeons.

"The pigeon we released at 3:30 p. m. bore the message, 'Above the clouds, 3 p. m.' I don't know whether the bird was able to find its way back through the thick stratum and get home.

"The other pigeon was set free at 4 o'clock, but we had lost our leg holder and didn't attach a message to it.

"We lighted in a big field. There wasn't a soul in sight, but in five minutes there must have been a crowd of 100 around us."

Locusts Infest Cemetery Trees.

Decoration Day Services at the Bellefontaine Cemetery disclosed the fact that myriads of large insects, thought to be 17-year locusts, infested the small trees and shrubs. Apparently the insects had just developed. Many of them were already dead. A florist to whom C. L. Hammerstein, secretary of the Board of Education, appealed for information said that the insects were locusts.

SUNDAY THEATERS LEGAL IN ILLINOIS IS COURT RULING

Belleville Contract Dispute Raises Issue of Breach of Peace in Circuit Court.

Judge Holder of the Circuit Court at Belleville, holding that Sunday theater performances in Illinois are not illegal, awarded $60 damages Friday to Samuel Allen, manager of the "My Dixie Girl" theatrical troupe, against F. R. Hallam, manager of the Lyric Theater in Belleville.

Allen's company was booked to show at the theater Sunday, Jan. 6. Another company was booked later and gave a performance, shutting Allen out. He sued for $300 damages, and a Justice's court gave him the full amount. Hallam appealed to the Circuit Court.

Hallam pleaded in defense that a Sunday theater contract was invalid, and that he could not be held responsible under it. Judge Holder ruled that a Sunday performance was not a violation of the peace nor a breech of good behavior and therefore not illegal. He awarded damages for the amount actually lost by missing the performance.

STUDENT DISGUISED AS BOOTBLACK GETS EVIDENCE

Shines Shoes in a Saloon and Sees Liquor Sold Without License.

Arthur Miller, a student at Shurtleff College in Upper Alton, will be the chief witness Monday when Patrick Delehanty, a saloon keeper near the college, is arraigned on a charge of selling liquor within two miles of a town without a city license. Miller disguised himself as a bootblack and shined the shoes of the saloon habitues free in order to watch the sale of liquor.

Prof. H. C. Tilton of the Shurtleff faculty has been active in prosecuting saloon keepers near the college, and he sent Miller to Delehanty's place, which is in Madison County. The student wore ragged clothes and had a "shine box" slung carelessly over one shoulder, and he soon had the evidence.

STORM BLAMED FOR DEATH OF MAN BY ASPHYXIATION

Joseph Maxwell Found Dead in Gas Filled Room, With Jet Partly Turned On.

Joseph Maxwell, 54 years old, was found dead in bed from gas asphyxiation at his home, 1627 Hogan street, at 6:30 Friday morning. Relatives believe his death was due to the fluctuation and final extinction of a lighted gas jet and say that the severe electrical storm of Thursday night was responsible.

The gas jet in his apartment acted queerly when lit. At times it burned brightly and then sank low until it was almost extinguished. Maxwell was accustomed to sleeping with the jet turned low.

When Shipman called Maxwell to breakfast there was no response. He entered the bedroom and found Maxwell lifeless. The apartment was filled with gas. The jet was partly turned on.

C. L. Holman, secretary of the Laclede Gaslight Co., says that a burning gaslight cannot go out from fluctuation of pressure.

"The pipe is always crammed full of gas and no variation of pressure would cause it to go out," he said. "But a small gas flame might be blown out by a draft of air and then the gas would fill the room and be dangerous."

GIVES HIMSELF UP AFTER TWO YEARS

Man Who Slew Chicago Saloon-Keeper Feared He Was Losing His Mind.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CHICAGO, May 31.—While watching a Memorial day parade, Ernest Martini, 27 years old, who, for two years, according to his confession, has gone agoot through many of the Western states weighed down by fear of arrest for the killing of Frank Murda, a Chicago saloon keeper, was captured yesterday.

Martini said he had been haunted during his daily efforts to elude captors both real and imaginary by the horror of his act and the further fear that he was losing his mind. Finally, after two years of roaming, in which he had hidden in nearly every State west of the Mississippi River, he came to Chicago in order that his friends might place him in a sanitarium.

He had been in the Garfield Park Sanitarium since May 23. When the Memorial day parade formations were being brought to order he stood in front of the sanitarium watching the maneuvers. Three policemen saw him and a few moments later he was locked up.

Last night Martini gave out a seven-page confession of the killing of Murda.

BIG GUN "KICKED" LITTLE BOY OF 5

Willie Flaherty Tried to Shoot Mice and Was Badly Bruised by Rebound.

Willie Flaherty, 5 years old, of Black Walnut, Mo., 12 miles from St. Charles, can give the nature writers a valuable tip. By personal observation he has found that a shotgun is not the proper weapon with which to shoot mice.

He tried it and he was so badly hurt that he had to be patched up by a St. Charles doctor.

Willie isn't old enough to have read the statistics from Washington which say that rats in the United States destroy $100,000,000 worth of grain every year.

But he knew that a whole lot of mice were playing around his father's corn crib and that they weren't wanted there. He would shoot them with the big gun which hung in the family sitting room. Climbing on a chair he took the weapon from the wall and carried it out into the yard.

He waited until he saw a dozen mice scampering up and down the framework of the corn crib. He laid the barrel of the gun on the wellbox and pulled the trigger.

That was all he knew for some time. His father, hearing the report, rushed in from the field and found the little boy unconscious.

Willie was taken to St. Charles where Dr. Bruere found that his shoulder was sprained and his lip was cut. It is thought that the scar will remain on his lip for life.

St. Louis has more Post-Dispatch readers every day than it has homes.
